

Victim of 'Developing Illness'

Ho Chi Minh Reported Dying

TOKYO (AP)—Hanoi reported today President Ho Chi Minh in "somewhat grave" condition with a developing illness. Officials in Saigon believed the admission meant the 79-year-old father of Vietnamese communism was near death.

Ho's illness was announced in a communique which said: "Over the past few weeks, President Ho Chi Minh has not been well. . . . A collective of professors and medical doctors has been attending him day and night."

Another communique, broadcast four hours later, said Ho's condition was "not stable" and that "his illness is developing and is somewhat grave."

"They would hardly issue such a bulletin unless Ho was already dead or in a coma of some kind," said one official in Saigon.

Hanoi did not disclose the nature of the illness, but Ho had a bad case of tuberculosis in the 1940s and reportedly had suffered from heart trouble and possible lung complications for more than two years.

A North Vietnamese official in Paris remarked: "All I can say is what is obvious—the president is an old man."

Experts in Saigon said Ho's death or incapacitation probably would result in an intensified power struggle in North Vietnam but no change in the goal of a unified Communist Vietnam. And they said even the jockeying for power might not be evident for some time.

It will be dictatorship by the party, not a dictatorship by one man, one expert said.

"The Political Bureau and the Central Committee will be the important factors."

Known as "Uncle Ho" to the millions of Vietnamese who considered him the father of Vietnamese independence, Ho Chi Minh was the son of an impoverished minor government official who was fired by the French for his anti-French attitude.

Ho studied in Hue and Saigon, then went to Europe at 19 as a cabin boy on a French steamer. His goal from that time on was Vietnamese independence. Studying for it, planning for it, he worked in the kitchens of the Carlton Hotel in London, met the leading Socialists of the time in France, and met Lenin, Stalin and Trotsky in Moscow.

For more than 30 years of exile he devoted himself to organizing an underground campaign against French rule in Indochina. Engaged by Stalin's Comintern as an agent, he shuttled between China, Hong Kong and Thailand.

Ho returned to his homeland after the Japanese invaded Indochina in World War II. There he revived an old anti-Chinese underground organization known as the Viet Nam Doc Lap Dong Minh, or Vietminh, to fight the Japanese.

Ho was 79 on May 19, and his troops observed his birthday on Vietnam's battlegrounds. He made one of his last recorded statements on July 19, telling North Vietnam's news agency that Hanoi was "sure to win total victory" in the war.

Ho made his last reported public appearance June 7 when he received the credentials of Communist China's ambassador, Wang Yu-Ping.

Power Struggle in Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — Experts in military leader, Vo Nguyen Giap. How this struggle would affect the war or the peace talks in Paris is questionable. Few see a prospect of any immediate change. One official said that any severe contest for power inevitably must lead to a slowing down of the war in the South, but that this would not necessarily mean any weakening of the adamant North Vietnamese position at the Paris talks.

On the surface, Ho's chosen successor is Premier Pham Van Dong, one of the original members of the North Vietnamese Communist party and a skilled in-fighter and organizer. For many months he has been carrying on the day-to-day affairs of government and is believed to have the government machinery solidly behind him.

However, he is listed as only the No. Four man on the nine-man Politburo which is North Vietnam's ruling body. The No. Two man in this tightly knit group is the pragmatic party boss Le Duan, a behind-the-scenes organizer who is felt to lean toward Moscow. His chief rival and the No. Three man is sharp-tongued Truong Chinh, whose adopted party name translates as "Long March" and who appropriately leans toward Peking.

It is felt unlikely that Gen. Giap, who ranks No. Five on the Politburo, will be a contender for the top job.

Hanoi watchers note that nothing has ever come to light indicating that any of Vietnam's senior Communists differ on their major aim—reunifying Vietnam under the rule of the Communist party.

Should either faction gain superiority, however, North Vietnam might move finally into the orbit of Moscow or Peking. Ho was able throughout his years to walk a tight rope in all international ideological disputes. Most experts believe that his successors will try to do the same, but they may not be able to maintain the independence that the patriarch of Asian communism could.

Meanwhile, United Press International reported that the illness of Ho Chi Minh and a hint the Communists may be ready to scale down the Vietnam fighting lent new importance today to a review of Vietnam policy by U.S. diplomats in Paris.

U.S. Ambassador to Saigon Ellsworth Bunker was conferring with Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator at the Vietnam talks. Initially their discussions were to have focused on a review of the South Vietnamese cabinet and Bunker's assessment of the group.

But a statement from the North Vietnamese delegation that Hanoi is more interested in American troop withdrawals than in the overthrow of the present Saigon regime put these talks in a new focus.

Bunker arrived in Paris Tuesday evening and told newsmen he expected the new government leadership in Saigon, still under President Nguyen Van Thieu, to continue past policies of ending the war by negotiated agreement and without surrender.

A few hours after the Bunker statement, Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator and minister of state, made a new appeal to the United States to rapidly withdraw its forces from South Vietnam.

Speaking at a reception celebrating the 24th anniversary of Ho's declaration of independence from France, Thuy indicated to newsmen the Communists might alter their demand to oust the Thieu government if President Nixon "starts withdrawing troops in considerable numbers and rapidly."

When pressed by reporters on the amount of withdrawal and what the North Vietnamese would do if Nixon withdrew more than a quarter of the American forces, Thuy said, "Well then, it would create a new situation and we would take it into account."

It was the first time a top North Vietnamese official had gone on record as saying the Communists might modify their past stand of demanding total American withdrawal and the overthrow of the Thieu administration.

Thuy said that "both the questions were linked together, but if the United States withdraws rapidly its troops we will then examine this factor and take it into account."

Conference sources said the apparent overture by Thuy could be the answer to ending the deadlock in the talks, now in their 33rd week.

MISSING DOCTOR PIKE

Pike Missing in Judean Desert

JERUSALEM (AP) — Searchers today found the passport and wallet of Dr. James Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California missing in the barren Judean wilderness northwest of the Dead Sea.

Army officials said Pike's belongings were found in a dry river bed or wadi about a mile east of his abandoned car.

The officials said they expected to find Pike soon "dead or alive."

Pike, 56, and his 31-year-old third wife were motoring through the area when their car broke down Monday night. The couple set out on foot to look for help, but Pike collapsed after two hours walking in the heat and sent his wife on alone. She said she left him on a hillside.

After walking all night, Mrs. Pike met some highway guards early Tuesday and they took her to Bethlehem.

The police immediately began a search using helicopters and planes. Pike's car was found Tuesday afternoon.

Arab tribesmen joined hundreds of Israeli troops and police today in the search.

A fleet of military helicopters took off at daybreak to aid the tribesmen and security forces looking for the controversial 56-year-old Churchman in the Israeli-occupied sector of Jordan.

Police said the Bedouins were called into the search because they are practically the only people who can survive on foot in the desert wastelands, where temperatures soar to more than 100 degrees during the day.

Mrs. Pike spent Tuesday night in a Jerusalem hotel in a state of shock and under sedation. In Tel Aviv, U.S. Embassy officials declined to confirm Pike was the missing man.

In Santa Barbara, Calif., Pike's mother, Mrs. Pearl Chambers, said her son and daughter-in-law went to the Holy Land to study the origins of Christianity and the Dead Sea Scrolls for a book he was writing. Pike told friends that he hoped to find documents or ancient records that would provide more information on Christ.

Pike was brought up in the Roman Catholic faith but became an agnostic during his college days. He took law degrees from the University of California and Yale and then worked for the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington and taught at George Washington University.

He joined the Episcopal Church during World War II when he was a U.S. naval officer. After the war he was ordained from Union Theological Seminary and served as a rector and teacher until 1952, when he was appointed dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

Pike was elected bishop coadjutor of San Francisco in 1958. His views on religion became increasingly controversial within a few years and drew criticism and charges of heresy from more conservative members of the Episcopal Church. He challenged the belief in the virgin birth of Christ, questioned literal interpretations of the Bible and was opposed to the Vietnam war.

He resigned his bishopric in 1966 and became a research fellow at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara. His position was later eliminated in a reorganization of a new Christian group, the Foundation for Religious Transition.

After two marriages and two divorces, Pike last December married the former Diana Kennedy. They had collaborated on a book "The Other Side," in which Pike claimed to have communicated with his dead son James Jr., who committed suicide in 1966.

Both the book and the marriage drew censure from Episcopal authorities, and in February the church suspended him from priestly functions. Shortly after Pike announced formation of a new Christian group, the Foundation for Religious Transition, which he said was the answer for those "who have lost hope in organized churches."

MAJOR SURGERY—Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, 73, was reported in satisfactory condition after surgeons removed a growth from his right lung, but there was no official word on whether the tumor was cancerous. The upper lobe of Dirksen's right lung was removed Tuesday by Army doctors at Walter Reed Hospital. A statement issued by Dirksen's office said "there was no evidence of spread of the tumor" and his condition after the operation was termed satisfactory.

Ray Prods Council on Uptown Parking

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Two familiar items highlighted Common Council action Tuesday night, the mayor's plans for Uptown urban renewal and the so-called 51 percent amendment, in addition to a heated controversy over a street light in the Fifth Ward.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, in a communication to the Council, made another suggestion for the revitalization of the Uptown shopping area.

The mayor asked the Common Council to rescind its authorization to use $750,210 in state urban renewal money to build a parking garage at the head of Wall Street, and, instead, approve his plan for filling in the area to accommodate parking for 160 cars. Garraghan estimated the cost of the project at $65,000 and said, if started immediately, could be completed by Nov. 15 of this year. The communication was forwarded to the Finance Ways and Means Committee and to the Laws and Rules Committee.

The 51 percent amendment was reviewed once again after the Council was notified that the city planning board had given its unanimous approval to a high rise apartment project proposed for what is now Lawton Park.

Under the amendment, passed in May, 51 percent of those persons living within a 500-foot radius of a proposed zoning change must approve the change before it can go to the Common Council.

The Lawton petition had not received the necessary signatures, it was learned, which led to questions on the status of the amendment.

A ruling from the Department of Audit and Control had reached the city last month which judged the council's action in passing the amendment as illegal.

Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein said the city accepts the ruling of the Department of Audit and Control until a court changes it.

Alderman John Machione asked why the city had asked audit and control for a ruling instead of the attorney general's office. Klein answered that it was a decision of the municipal ity to choose from which state office to seek legal advice. Klein said he had not asked audit and control for a ruling. (Donald E. Quick, chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee, had asked for the ruling, writing directly to audit and control.)

The controversy over a proposed red and green street light at the corner of O'Neil Street and Ten Broeck Avenue goes back to last month when the Traffic Committee refused to approve the request by Alderman John Finch of the Fifth Ward. Finch had presented a petition with 200 signatures from residents in the area asking for the street light.

Last night the committee was relieved of its duties as only Peter Mancuso, chairman of the three-man committee had signed the committee report. Aldermen Machione (R-Second Ward) and Michael Perry (D-Seventh Ward) said they went along with Police Department recommendations that a traffic light at that corner would create traffic jams.

Mayor Garraghan also figured in that controversy with a letter to the Council recommending the street light. Machione asserted that Garraghan was trying to dominate the Council.

There were charges that aldermen opposing the light were not concerned with welfare of children in the area which were vigorously denied. All aldermen who spoke on the subject expressed their concern for children. The resolution passed 11-2 with Machione and Perry voting against it.

The subject of communism came up for the first time in recent memory, shortly before the council adjourned.

Alderman John Heitzman (D-First Ward) referred to an article in The Freeman's Saturday feature magazine, Tempo.

Freeman Cited for Typography

KINGSTON The Kingston Daily Freeman has been cited as an example of outstanding newspaper typography in a recently published book, "Modern Newspaper Design" by Edmund C. Arnold, chairman of the Graphic Arts Department, Syracuse University School of Journalism.

A full-page illustration of the front page of the Nov. 12, 1968 issue of The Freeman is depicted in the book, noting the effective use of horizontal layout.

The horizontal layout, used with great frequency in The Freeman, was originated and developed by Peter W. Barrecchia, managing editor.

Arnold, whose book was published July 16 by Harper and Row, New York City, is a world authority on newspaper design. In his book he stresses, as does Barrecchia, that the reader is the most important person to a newspaper staff and that his comfort, convenience and pleasure must be satisfied by the physical appearance of the paper.

Before he became a professor, Arnold was a working newspaper man for more than 30 years. He has written dozens of books on various aspects of design and is the author of hundreds of articles. He conducts workshops and clinics throughout the country and has been involved in the styling of scores of the most famous newspapers in America.

Officials Visit HUD For $600,000 Aid

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan hit the road this week in behalf of two major city projects, code enforcement in midtown and reconstruction uptown.

MAYOR GARRAGHAN

Garraghan and his building inspector, George E. Radcliffe, were in New York City today at the regional offices of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, seeking approval of almost $600,000 in funds to carry out the program have not been forthcoming. The mayor offered little details of his Friday trip to Boston, Mass. Garraghan said he would be meeting with a developer who had expressed interest in building uptown between the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, has been graded by the city and is being used for temporary parking.

The code enforcement program is divided into three main sections, the largest being in the Greenkill Avenue, Clinton Avenue area with some 427 units.

Area Two, with 230 units involved, is in the East Strand, Tompkins Street area. Downtown, as is Area Three, with 28 units, a section in the North Street, Willow Street area.

The cost of the code enforcement program is estimated at $545,000 with another $35,000 earmarked for demolition of city-owned buildings, mostly in the old Seventh Ward. The federal government will pay three quarters of the project and the city the remainder.

The project will be known as the Kingston Home Improvement Program and will be a separate unit under the office of the mayor. An advisory board will be appointed to include the minority and majority leaders of the Common Council, the chairman of the city housing codes commission and the city treasurer.

The three-year program will be administered by a project director with a staff housing inspector.

It has been emphasized that the Kingston Home Improvement Program is a code enforcement program and not a rehabilitation program. Property owners will be required to bring their properties up to city code standards.

Government loans as low as three per cent for as long as 20 years will be available for those persons who qualify.

The mayor and Radcliffe met with Mrs. Alfreda Harris, assistant regional administrator of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Woodstock Man Injured as Car Hits Pole

WOODSTOCK James Babb, 53, of 84 Rock City Road, Woodstock, was injured at 1:50 a.m. today when the car he was driving left Pine Grove Street in this community and hit a utility pole.

Trooper R. C. Schanck of the Kingston Zone Headquarters of State Police, cited Babb for leaving the scene of an accident and failure to keep to the right. The summonses are returnable at a later date.

According to state police, the vehicle was southbound when the driver apparently lost control and the car went off the pavement into the pole. Babb escaped with puncture wounds of the lower lip, authorities said.

Drunk Driving Charged in T-way Arrest Tuesday

CATSKILL Muriel Greenfield, 54, of Yellowstone Drive, Forest Hills, L. I., was arrested shortly before 10 p.m. Tuesday on a charge of drunken driving after she was stopped on the State Thruway about 14 miles north of Kingston by Trooper W. A. Dorsch.

The woman was arraigned before Catskill Town Justice George Carl, who fixed bail at $500 and adjourned hearing until today at 7 p.m. In lieu of bail the woman was committed to the Greene County jail. Sgt. H. H. Ganss noted the motorist refused to submit to a chemical test.

Woman's Body Found in Car On Upstate Lane

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — The body of a 24-year-old mother of two was found early today in her car on a secluded dirt road leading to a seldom-used Girl Scout camp in this North Country village.

The St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Department identified the woman as Frances H. Emerson, 24, of nearby Colton. A spokesman said she may have died Sunday night. An autopsy was ordered.

Mrs. Emerson, deputies said, was the mother of two children, Brian, 9, and Tina, 7, and estranged from her husband.

Her body was found by two Canton policemen searching for an auto they had seen in Canton earlier. Mrs. Emerson's car was not the one.

Mrs. Emerson had not been reported missing.

Her children, deputies said, had been left at the home of Mrs. Emerson's mother, Mrs. Ethel Thompson of South Colton.

Dept. of Tax Assessment— Rhinebeck Area Reaction Cool

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK
Reaction to the Dutchess County Board of Representatives' proposal for the creation of a department of tax assessment was quickly forthcoming Tuesday from District Five Representative Madison Sipperley. In speaking with The Freeman that several towns in the area were adopting the 24-hour police protection idea through the cooperation of the sheriff's department. The new number to call, 24 hours a day, will be 758-6300.

A Red Hook Shift

RED HOOK
A somewhat complicated setup for providing police protection in the Village of Red Hook has been abolished, and centralized radio connections instigated.

At this week's village board meeting, it was announced that starting Sept. 14, all police calls in the village should be directed to a new number at the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department office at Wilcox Park, Town of Milan.

The village police, consisting of one patrol car, one full-time officer, Rex Main, and six part-time patrolmen have two radios in the car. One is tuned to a village wave length and the other to the sheriff's department hookup.

Presently, if a police call comes into the village hall during daytime office hours it is relayed by the village clerk, Frances Rabbett, to the patrol car or taken by an officer in the village hall.

Nighttime calls are directed to the village clerk's residence, and he must then notify the patrolman. The new system will allow the clerk an uninterrupted night's sleep.

Mayor Ellroy Hand has noted that the new method will be at "no cost to the village." He told

The Freeman that several towns in the area were adopting the 24-hour police protection idea through the cooperation of the sheriff's department.

The new number to call, 24 hours a day, will be 758-6300.

Police members will attend a sheriff's department sponsored school at the Rhinebeck Town Hall Sept. 10, 17, and 24. Village officers will attend a meeting at a Bear Mountain Sept. 18 and 19.

To N. Y. Hospital

Dr. Louis Zuckman, who has a summer home in West Hurley and resides at 15 West 11th Street, New York City, has been removed to University Hospital in New York by Fatum's Ambulance Service.

The advent of tax-mapping and reappraisal "might eliminate some of the problems." The cost to the taxpayer is another subject that "would have to be taken under consideration." It was said that elimination of perhaps three and Rhinebeck along with fel-

persons per town locally would have to be offset by "another art, said, "Unless some further giant county department, and information changes my mind, I am not too much for it."

Sipperley also noted that, with the exception of Republican majority leader William Bartles of Hyde Park, the entire proposed study group would be composed of urban oriented representatives.

"They did not always understand the problems faced by the rural areas, and after all, who is better qualified to have a good estimate of property values than the people themselves who live in the town," Sipperley said.

"I have a feeling that before this thing were through, we would have computers, a large department, and perhaps a higher cost to the taxpayer with not necessarily better results," he summed up.

The proposed plan points out that local review boards might have advisory capacities, but that, in any case, the plan would not come before a voter referendum before the 1970 elections.

Fiery Start in Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK his large gathering of directors and workers to explore their motives.

This introspection was prompted by an attempt on the well-known reverend's life two weeks ago in Anaheim, Calif. A youngster had hitchhiked to Anaheim from a Midwestern city with the alleged express purpose of killing Wilkerson with a knife, and secreted himself behind a stage door.

Police thwarted the attempt, and when Wilkerson questioned the youth on his motive, the boy responded, "The only way to make yourself a name is to kill somebody well-known," it was reported.

Making mention of the "nostalgic air" of the ancient well-appointed church and the Rhinebeck area, Wilkerson proceeded to charge his workers to dedication in reaching "alcoholics, drug addicts, and homosexuals," placing them all in the same category.

Wilkerson announced the forthcoming shooting of a movie, the dramatization of his best-selling autobiography "The Cross and the Switchblade."

Pat Boone, popular singer of the late 1950s, and Don Murray will star in the film, which will start shooting on location in New York Sept. 22.

About his own organization, which has prospered greatly since its inception 12 years ago on a shoestring, Wilkerson said, "One must be an individualist to do this kind of work." He also wryly commented that "we are condemned by the Church because we are doing exactly what the Church preaches."

Further meetings, in an attempt to delve into the problems created by drug abuse and associated criminal offenses, will be held nightly at the Dutch Reformed Church. Featured speakers Thursday night will be Dutchess County District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt and Patrick Berry, Upstate Area Director for the Division of Narcotics Education of the New York State Narcotics Addiction Control Commission.

A welcome has been extended to the public.

Officials Visit HUD For $600,000 Aid

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan hit the road this week in behalf of two major city projects, code enforcement in midtown and reconstruction uptown.

Garraghan and his building inspector, George E. Radcliffe, were in New York City today at the regional offices of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, seeking approval of almost $600,000 in would be meeting with a developer who had expressed interest in building uptown owned by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, has been graded by the city and is being used for temporary parking.

The code enforcement program is divided into three main sections, the largest being in the Greenkill Avenue, Clinton Avenue area with some 427 units.

Area Two, with 230 units involved, is in the East Strand, Tompkins Street area, Downtown, as is Area Three, with 28 units, a section in the North Street, Willow Street area.

The cost of the code enforcement program is estimated at $545,000 with another $35,000 earmarked for demolition of city-owned buildings, mostly in the old Seventh Ward. The federal government will pay three quarters of the project and the city the remainder.

The project will be known as the Kingston Home Improvement Program and will be a separate unit under the office of the mayor. An advisory board will be appointed to include the minority and majority

It has been emphasized that the Kingston Home Improvement Program is a code enforcement program and not a rehabilitation program. Property owners will be required to bring their properties up to city code standards.

Government loans as low as three per cent for as long as 20 years will be available for those persons who qualify.

Phone Usage Seminar

A two- to three-hour session of instruction and information on the proper usage of the business telephone is planned for late September or early October by Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the New York Telephone Company.

Local businesses have been advised of the session by mail this week and are asked to notify the Chamber office in the Gov. Clinton Hotel how many will participate. The deadline for notification is Tuesday, Sept. 9.

The session will include instruction of correct dialing procedures, long distance operation and courteous, diplomatic and accurate telephone answering techniques.

The service is offered at no charge to Chamber of Commerce members. Whether or not the session is held will depend on the response the Chamber receives from local business.

Further information about the session is available by calling the Chamber office.

Woodstock Man Injured as Car Hits Pole

WOODSTOCK

James Babb, 53, of 84 Rock City Road, Woodstock, was injured at 1:50 a.m. today when the car he was driving left Pine Grove Street in this community and hit a utility pole.

Trooper R. C. Schanck of the Kingston Zone Headquarters of State Police, cited Babb for leaving the scene of an accident and failure to keep to the right. The summonses are returnable at a later date.

According to state police, the vehicle was southbound when the driver apparently lost control and the car went off the pavement into the pole. Babb escaped with puncture wounds of the lower lip, authorities said.

CATSKILL

Muriel Greenfield, 54, of Yellowstone Drive, Forest Hills, L. I., was arrested shortly before 10 p.m. Tuesday on a charge of drunken driving after she was stopped on the State Thruway about 14 miles north of Kingston by Trooper W. A. Dorsch.

The woman was arraigned before Catskill Town Justice George Carl, who fixed bail at $500 and adjourned hearing until today at 7 p.m. In lieu of bail the woman was committed to the Greene County jail.

Sgt. H. H. Ganss noted the motorist refused to submit to a chemical test.

Woman's Body Found in Car On Upstate Lane

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — The body of a 24-year-old mother of two was found early today in her car on a secluded dirt road leading to a seldom-used Girl Scout camp in this North Country village.

The St. Lawrence County Sheriff's Department identified the woman as Frances H. Emerson, 24, of nearby Colton. A spokesman said she may have died Sunday night. An autopsy was ordered.

Mrs. Emerson, deputies said, was the mother of two children, Brian, 9, and Tina, 7, and estranged from her husband.

Her body was found by two Canton policemen searching for an auto they had seen in Canton earlier. Mrs. Emerson's car was not the one.

Mrs. Emerson had not been reported missing.

Her children, deputies said, had been left at the home of Mrs. Emerson's mother, Mrs. Ethel Thompson of South Colton.

Young GOP Club Slates Speakers

KINGSTON

Melvin Mones, Kingston Republican chairman, and Albert Spada, County Chairman, will be the guest speakers at a meeting of the Ulster County Young Republican Club, Sept. 10 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Mones and Spada will discuss the upcoming city and county campaigns and the role that young Republicans will play in it.

The meeting is set for 8 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

Fiery Start in Rhinebeck

The first session of the Teen Challenge Drug Addiction and Youth Delinquency Seminar began in fiery fashion Tuesday night.

The week-long seminar was kicked off by a self-recriminatory address to a full house at the Rhinebeck Dutch Reformed Church by founder of the world wide organization, the Rev. David Wilkerson.

The dynamic speaker, who put together a religiously oriented drug addict program which now spans the nation and is setting up posts in Europe and Asia, alluded strongly to his new found dedication to his "work" after being caught up in "ostentatious clothing and a $4,000 red sports car." He urged his large gathering of directors and workers to explore their motives.

This introspection was prompted by an attempt on the well-known reverend's life two weeks ago in Anaheim, Calif. A youngster had hitchhiked to Anaheim from a Midwestern city with the alleged express purpose of killing Wilkerson with a knife, and secreted himself behind a stage door. Police thwarted the attempt, and when Wilkerson questioned the youth on his motive, the boy responded, "The only way to make yourself a name is to kill somebody well-known." It was reported.

Making mention of the "nostalgic air" of the ancient well-appointed church and the Rhinebeck area, Wilkerson proceeded to charge his workers to dedication in reaching "alcoholics, drug addicts, and homosexuals," placing them all in the same category.

Wilkerson announced the forthcoming shooting of a movie, the dramatization of his best-selling autobiography "The Cross and the Switchblade."

Pat Boone, popular singer of the late 1950s, and Don Murray will star in the film, which will start shooting on location in New York Sept. 22.

About his own organization, which has prospered greatly since its inception 12 years ago on a shoestring, Wilkerson said,

"One must be an individualist to do this kind of work." He also wryly commented that "we are condemned by the Church because we are doing exactly what the Church preaches."

Further meetings, in an attempt to delve into the problems created by drug abuse and associated criminal offenses, will be held nightly at the Dutch Reformed Church. Featured speakers Thursday night will be Dutchess County District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt and Patrick Berry, Upstate Area Director for the Division of Narcotics Education of the New York State Narcotics Addiction Control Commission.

A welcome has been extended to the public.

Dept. of Tax Assessment—Rhinebeck Area Reaction Cool

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK Reaction to the Dutchess County Board of Representatives' proposal for the creation of a department of tax assessment was quickly forthcoming Tuesday from District Five Representative Madison Sipperley.

A Red Hook Shift

RED HOOK A somewhat complicated set-up for providing police protection in the Village of Red Hook has been abolished, and centralized radio connections instigated.

At this week's village board meeting, it was announced that starting Sept. 14, all police calls in the village should be directed to a new number at the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department office at Wilcox Park, Town of Milan.

The village police, consisting of one patrol car, one full-time officer, Rex Main, and six part-time patrolmen have two radios in the car. One is tuned to a village wave length and the other to the sheriff's department hookup.

Presently, if a police call comes into the village hall during daytime office hours it is relayed by the village clerk, Frances Rabbett, to the patrol car or taken by an officer in the village hall.

Nighttime calls are directed to the village clerk's residence, and he must then notify the patrolman. The new system will allow the clerk an uninterrupted night's sleep.

Mayor Elroy Hand has noted that the new method will be at "no cost to the village." He told The Freeman that several towns in the area were adopting the 24-hour police protection idea through the cooperation of the sheriff's department.

The new number to call, 24 hours a day, will be 758-6390.

Police members will attend a sheriff's department sponsored school at the Rhinebeck Town Hall Sept. 10, 17, and 24. Village officers will attend a meeting at Bear Mountain Sept. 18 and 19.

To N. Y. Hospital

Dr. Louis Zuckman, who has a summer home in West Hurley and resides at 15 West 11th Street, New York City, has been removed to University Hospital in New York by Fatum's Ambulance Service.

sents the Towns of Red Hook and Rhinebeck along with fellow Republican Kenneth Stewart, said, "Unless some further information changes my mind, I am not too much for it."

"I would like to see additional information," he said, "but I basically feel that assessment belongs in the town. If a situation should develop, such as the entrance of a large department store complex, in a rural oriented town like Red Hook, then help could always be sought from the county."

"We do have inequities among the towns," said the representative, "and we do realize that there is some pretty strange property evaluation done from time to time, but there is some very good local assessment being done also. The Village of Rhinebeck has always been outstanding in this respect, I think," said Sipperley.

The advent of tax-mapping and reappraisal "might eliminate some of the problems," said the taxpayer. The cost to the taxpayer is another subject that "would have to be taken under consideration," it was said at elections.

The proposed plan points out that local review boards might have advisory capacities, but that, in any case, the plan would not come before a voter referendum before the 1970 elections.

READY FOR CLASSES — Brian Minasian leads off the more than 1,100 full-time day students at Ulster County Community College registration at Stone Ridge Tuesday as he receives assistance from faculty members. UCCC officials expect the day students to be augmented by more than 900 part-time students and say "today's the big one," when the Freshman class signs in. Classes are scheduled to begin on Thursday, but the campus is not expected to be in "full swing" until next week. (Freeman photo by Haines).

The Attack on Boucher

Dowling Surprised, Confused

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE — Mayor Robert Dowling of Ellenville has indicated that he was "surprised" and "confused" by the attack launched against the Village Board here by former village manager Paul Boucher.

Boucher, who resigned from the village's top administrative post last week, said in a subsequent statement that his decision to resign was largely derived from "political pressure" by a "Village Board interested in party politics first before all."

He also made reference in his statement to "threats" made against him by Village Trustee Rivan Kreiger.

Kreiger, reached at his home yesterday, had no comment on Boucher's allegations.

"I just don't know what he means," Mayor Dowling told The Freeman Tuesday. "I think we were fair with this man and I don't see why he came out with such a strong blast."

In his statement, Boucher charged that the five-man board sabotaged his administrative programs through political maneuvering.

"From the board's action I could see that the situation had deteriorated to such a point that I could no longer serve with any degree of effectiveness, for there is nothing more depressing than watching programs destroyed by political interest," Boucher stated.

Boucher specifically referred to five programs which were allegedly blocked by the board. These were programs for street renewal, youth, narcotics, tree replacement, and the development of Mount Cathalia as a year round recreation area.

Dowling said that while he could not speak for the entire board he personally felt that Boucher's remarks were "not true" and indicated that the board "never prohibited Boucher from doing anything which had merit and was feasible."

Dowling said he was further confused by Boucher's statement because the village, at present, has working programs in the areas mentioned by the former manager.

The mayor also noted that Boucher's interest in the Mount Cathalia project might stem from the fact that he is vice-president of an association which has been promoting the site.

In addition to his comments on the Boucher statement, Dowling also told The Freeman that the village governmental machinery was working quite smoothly despite the vacancy in the top administrative post.

He explained that the administration of the village's four basic areas of service — street maintenance, water and sewerage, police, and fire — will be assigned to the village's four trustees, respectively, and that he as mayor, will coordinate the overall activity.

"We will all have to work harder and meet more often," time as is needed."

Dowling said, adding that "I am perfectly happy and prepared to give to the village as much as time as is needed."

This emergency administrative re-adjustment is marks the fourth in as many years.

Hearings Adjourned

ELLENVILLE

Preliminary hearings for four men arrested in a gambling raid in a back room of the Ellenville Taxi Service at 78 Center Street, were adjourned Tuesday night by Police Justice Ronald W. Elias until Tuesday, Sept. 9 at 7 p.m.

The men were taken into custody during a raid directed by Sheriff William B. Martin Monday afternoon.

The defendants were booked as Harry Kundell, 57, of Hill Street; Morris Melavsky, 54, of Sandra Street; Lawrence Putzer, 24, of 75 Westwood Street and Sidney Scher, 45, of 21 Roslyn Street. They were all charged with loitering for the purpose of gambling.

Melavsky also was booked for promoting gambling and possessing gambling records, each in the second degree.

Kundell, Putzer and Scher were continued in $25 bail each. Melavsky was released in bail of $525.

Authorities reported they confiscated $3,360 in addition to gambling records during the raid in which state police and village authorities participated with men from the sheriff's office.

Local Burglaries Are Under Probe

KINGSTON

Detectives investigated two overnight burglaries reported at a Washington Avenue service station and a plumbing supply establishment on Flatbush Avenue, according to Det. Lt. Charles McCullough.

Bush's Service Station at Washington and Hurley Avenues was entered sometime during the night and the intruder or intruders made off with a box of slim-jim sausage sticks, a flashlight, one carton of cigarettes and eight sets of silverware, the report said.

Robert Bush, proprietor of the station, said entry was gained by smashing a rear window and moving a lever which raised two windows. A small amount of cash was overlooked by the thief or thieves, Bush noted.

The other break-in was reported at the Orange County Plumbing Supply Company at Hurley Democrats

4 or 5 Sought In Attempt on Race Track Safe

POWNA, Vt. (AP) — State police continued a hunt today for four or five men who handcuffed two guards at Green Mountain race track and tried to break into the track safe before they fled.

The men had burned two holes in the safe before they abandoned their tools and fled Monday night when one of the guards freed himself and was able to telephone police.

Track officials said the safe contained about $2,000.

The guards, Clyde Hoyt of Bennington and James McCaffrey of Pownal, were locked in a toilet, but one was able to get out after a handcuff broke.

Blackout and Some Are Late

LAKE KATRINE

Approximately 800 customers of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation were without electric service for about 1½ hours this morning after fire burned a cable on a riser pole at the Lincoln Park sub-station.

Joseph J. Benjamin, customer relations manager of the utility, said the trouble developed at approximately 3:30 a.m. after the fire broke out.

Ulster Hose Company responded to an alarm at 3:38 a.m. after a passerby reported the cable burning. Fire units stood by while line crews were dispatched to the scene to make repairs.

Benjamin said crews of workmen switched over the service to feed the lines from the sub-station near Saugerties. The area effected by the blackout took in Lake Katrine, Ruby and that section toward Mt. Marion and through the Mt. Marion 4-corners.

Service was restored at about 5 a.m., and permanent repairs were reported complete at about 10:30 a.m.

Most of the 800 customers who were without electric service during the incident were surprised—and some were late for work—when they awoke to discover the clocks in their home were about 1½ hours off schedule.

6 Hurt in Greene

CATSKILL

Six persons including an infant were injured at 5:45 p.m. when the car in which they were riding went out of control on a curve on Route 385 in this Greene county township and hit a tree. The injured were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Trooper C. L. Gross of Leeds cited the driver, Arthur Mercier, 20, of this village, for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent. The car was traveling along the highway when it failed to negotiate a right curve, veered off the west shoulder and hit a tree, police said. The force of the impact ripped the motor from the car and hurled it some distance.

Mercier sustained lacerations of the neck and foot. Others injured were Barbara Lowe, 17, of 17 North Warren Street, Athens, who sustained neck injuries; Merle Lowe, 14, back injuries; Cindy Borfitt, 13, also of Athens bruises of the arm and head; Nancy Mercier, 17, multiple abrasions and Michael Lowe, 1, scratches of the back.

WHERE TED'S CAR PLUNGED — Youngster leaps off Dyke Bridge on Chappaquiddick Island, Martha's Vineyard, where Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, died when car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy plunged into the water July 19. The inquest into her death, scheduled to begin today at Dukes County Courthouse in Edgartown, Mass., won't be held for at least a month. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Mary Jo Inquest Off for Month

BOSTON (UPI)—The inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car won't be held for at least a month.

Associate Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Massachusetts Supreme Court granted a petition from Kennedy's lawyers Tuesday for a restraining order blocking the inquest until the case can be "finally determined" by the court.

Judge James A. Boyle of Edgartown District Court said he would have a statement later today.

Miss Kopechne was killed when a car driven by Kennedy plunged off an unguarded wooden bridge at about midnight July 18 and overturned in a tidal pond on Chappaquiddick Island, just off Martha's Vineyard.

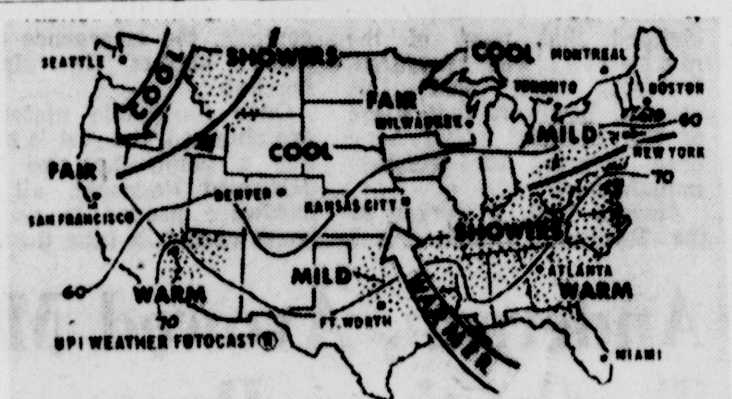

Reardon, a tall, gaunt jurist who authored a report on press-bar guidelines, listened for about 55 minutes to arguments from a lawyer for the senator and then one for the judge before issuing the temporary restraining order.

State Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn, whose office represented Boyle, said it would take "at least two weeks to prepare for the fight to protest his rights—argument." Court officials said and even if he wanted to get it then would have to be placed on the court schedule for fight the ground rules to protect other individuals in future inquests.

Boyle said last week lawyers would be permitted in the courtroom during the inquest only to act as advisers—with no power to cross-examine witnesses. Kennedy's lawyers claim such a decision deprives the senator of his constitutional rights to cross-examine witnesses, present evidence and mount to an ultimatum that compel witnesses to testify.

It was learned Kennedy's lawyers handed the Massachusetts Democrat what amounted to an ultimatum that

Two Killed During Violence In New Jersey

By United Press International
A young policeman and a woman were shot and killed Tuesday night during violence in Camden, N.J. Sporadic disorders broke out for the third consecutive night in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., despite the presence of National Guardsmen, and state troopers helped quell outbreaks in Hartford, Conn.

Camden authorities said a second policeman was shot and wounded as sporadic gunfire was reported on four streets in the city and one in South Camden. Rocks and bottles were hurled at police cars and small fires were set.

Police said they were seeking a sniper but refused to connect the search with the death of Patrolman Ronald J. Chandler, 22, during the disturbance. The identity of the dead woman was not immediately revealed.

A contingent of some 100 Connecticut state troopers helped Hartford officials enforce a 7 p. m. curfew and two battalions of National Guardsmen were on standby alert. Sporadic fires flared in the North End section as late as 8 p. m. Tuesday—the second day of violence.

B52s Pound Jungle Areas

SAIGON (UPI)—Five waves of U.S. B52 bombers raided jungles 85 miles northeast of Saigon where North Vietnamese troops have inflicted heavy casualties on two South Vietnamese battalions, military spokesmen said today.

The planes unloaded 450 tons of bombs Tuesday night and early today on Communist staging areas in Phuoc Long Province, scene of three days of heavy fighting between North Vietnamese regulars and the South Vietnamese irregulars, reports said.

Military spokesmen said at least 12 South Vietnamese had been killed, 20 were missing and 60 were wounded in the battles since Sunday in the province. The fighting began when the 250 South Vietnamese, led by U.S. Green Berets, came across a well-fortified North Vietnamese regimental headquarters at Song Be, 85 miles northeast of Saigon.

A U.S. Air Cavalry battalion was rushed to the region Tuesday but were not immediately committed to the fighting.

spokesmen said. Another South Vietnamese battalion was ambushed as it tried to come to the aid of the first, they reported.

Several Green Berets were reported wounded in the fighting. There was no word on Communist losses.

Elsewhere, U.S. military spokesmen reported 52 North Vietnamese killed in four battles in the north.

Troopers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division battled a Communist force about 65 miles northwest of Saigon Tuesday, spokesmen said, killing 12. The Americans, supported by fighter-bomber strikes, artillery and helicopter gunships, suffered two dead and one wounded, spokesmen said.

Communist gunners carried out four shelling attacks in South Vietnam Tuesday night and early today, spokesmen reported. Three of the attacks caused neither casualties nor damage.

U.S. operations in the I Corps area were reported to have been greatly reduced Tuesday by tropical storm Doris which swept into the northern coast of South Vietnam. Heavy rains and winds up to 90 miles per hour accompanied the storm.

Bad Hanoi Treatment Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Navy men have given harsh accounts of North Vietnamese prison camp life in a switch of U.S. government tactics to bring pressure on Hanoi concerning prisoner of war treatment.

Few if any details came with the release of other American prisoners, but Tuesday, Lt. Robert F. Frishman and seaman Douglas Brent Hegdahl told newsmen of torture, hunger and solitary confinement.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird followed this with a statement saying "North Vietnam has violated even the most fundamental standards of human decency."

In Hanoi, Laird said, "consistently has claimed through propaganda statements that our men are being treated humanely." This has been clearly refuted, he said.

Frishman said his story was told because of "a strong obligation to those still back there to get the truth out."

The lieutenant said American prisoners have had their fingernails pulled out, been burned with glowing cigarette ends, beaten, suspended from beams by ropes, and cast into tiny, almost airless cells for months on end.

"You resist so long," he said, "but it is only a matter of time before they can make you do anything they want you to do."

Frishman indicated his words may well cause further torture for the friends he left behind.

But, he said, several POWs got together before he left and it was the consensus that he should tell it like it is behind the barbed wire in Hanoi.

From this, Frishman said, he hopes that world opinion may force Hanoi to bring their treatment under the specifications of the Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam has signed.

Frishman lost 50 pounds in captivity, Hegdahl 60.

Government Spending

Taxpayers, long fed-up with tax burdens and government waste and inefficiency, are asking about the costs of President Nixon's shift of operations to California, which are estimated in the millions.

U.S. News & World Report in its current issue lists among major outlays for the "Western White House" elaborate communications facilities, a "jet shuttle" service and the expenses incurred by a host of officials. When any of the three White House Boeing 707 jet transports are used, the round-trip tab to the government is $8,000 per plane. Nixon plans to use this vacation retreat six to eight weeks a year.

At least 300 people are involved "in one way or another in supporting the summer White House. This figure includes not only office aides but aircraft pilots and maintenance men, chauffeurs for the fleet of White House cars driven to the West Coast and 75 Secret Service men.

Taxpayers are not the only ones disturbed about what they have to pay for running the Western White House. In Washington, some agencies are complaining about funds being drained from their coffers by the President's stay in California.

It isn't likely that Congressmen will be perturbed by these additional costs to the taxpayers. Some of the resourceful ones are too busy finding ways of charging their overseas vacations to the taxpayers.

If we are ever going to hold down tax requirements and lessen the increasing family tax bite, we first must cut out all expenditures which are not vital to the operation of government. And a good place to start is at the Federal level where wasteful practices and spend-thrift policies are bringing on a tax revolt.

Occupational Hazard

Early in August, President Nixon sent Congress a request for occupational safety legislation. He re-emphasized the statistics of job hazards which had been cited by former Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz:

There are 14,500 workers killed on the job each year; Over 2.2 million workers suffer disabling injuries; $1.5 billion in wages is lost annually and 250 million man-days of work—10 times the number due to strikes and other work stoppages.

The economy loses nearly $7 billion a year.

In addition, long-term health problems resulting from work-related chronic diseases are almost incalculable.

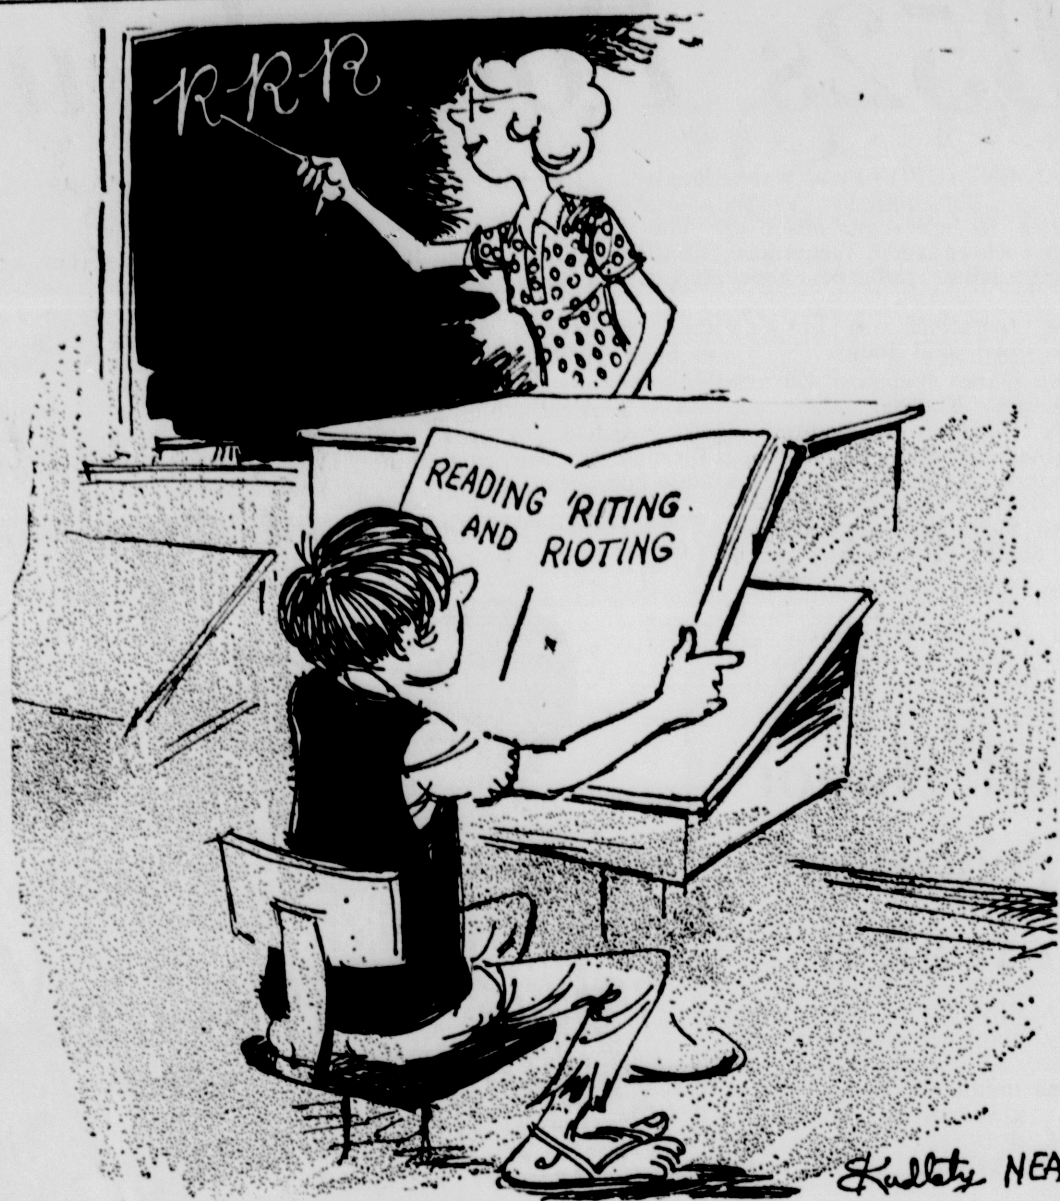

President Nixon wants a 5-man board to establish occupational health and safety standards for the nation. States would be allowed to set up their own programs if the Labor Department finds them effective. Grants would be given the states for devising their own programs and enforcing them.

House and Senate committees have called hearings in mid-September, when industry opposition which killed the Johnson proposals last year is expected to fight to kill Nixon's this year. With such evidence of the need, there should be enough courage in Congress to pass the legislation now. The cost in lives and money cannot be borne any longer.

David Lawrence Says Bill to Tax News Content Violates the Constitution

WASHINGTON — It seems incredible, but on August 11 the House of Representatives — apparently without noticing a paragraph in a revenue bill for the District of Columbia — passed a measure which not only is a violation of the Constitution but repeats one of the abuses of power that caused the American colonists to engage in a revolution against the British Crown.

The bill, now before a Senate committee, calls for a four per cent tax on "the sale of or charges for the service of preparing, providing, or supplying photographs, comic strips, special feature articles, feature articles, news items, or any similar material intended for use in newspapers, magazines, periodicals, circulars, radio, television, or any other means of publication."

Senator William B. Spong, Jr., Democrat of Virginia, who is a member of the subcommittee which this week is holding hearings on the bill, is demanding that the paragraph be deleted. He says:

"If this measure were enacted, the District of Columbia would be the only jurisdiction in the United States to tax the news content of the mass media. I am sympathetic with the district's revenue needs and problems, but a tax of this kind is a dangerous precedent to set, one that raises serious constitutional questions."

Justice Sutherland, in a unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States — in the famous case known as Grosjean v. American Press Co., Inc. — ruled that it is an abridgment of freedom of the press to impose a tax on either the advertisements in or the circulation of newspapers. He quoted historical articles in which it was pointed out that "these taxes constituted one of the factors that aroused the American colonists to protest" and that the revolution really began when, in 1765, the government in London "sent stamps for newspaper duties to the American colonies." The taxes were imposed "upon all newspapers and upon advertisements."

Justice Sutherland wrote that "these duties were quite commonly characterized as 'taxes on knowledge.'" He declared:

"It is not intended by anything we have said to suggest that the owners of newspapers are immune from any of the ordinary forms of taxation for support of the government. But this is not an ordinary form of tax, but one single in kind, with a long history of hostile misuses against the freedom of the press."

The predominant purpose of the grant of immunity here invoked (First and Fourteenth Amendments) was to preserve an untrammelled press as a vital source of public information. The newspapers, magazines, and other journals of the country, it is safe to say, have shed and continue to shed, more light on the public and business affairs of the nation than any other instrumentality of publicity; and since informed public opinion is the most potent of all restraints upon misgovernment, the suppression or abridgment of the publicity afforded by a free press cannot be regarded otherwise than with grave concern.

"The tax here involved is bad not because it takes money from the pockets of the appellees. If that were all, a wholly different question would be presented. It is bad because, in the light of its history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guarantees."

The Supreme Court opinion was handed down in February 1936 during the Roosevelt administration and is still "the law of the land."

The point is that, once a precedent is set which permits any state law or act of Congress to interfere with the operations of a newspaper or other publication merely by claiming a desire for tax revenue, the way is opened to impose penalties on the press if it does not kowtow to the government in power. In Louisiana — where the case decided in 1936 arose — a bitter controversy had been going on at the time between the governor of the state and the newspapers, so the tax was widely regarded as an attempt to punish the press.

The text of the proposed bill quoted above indicates clearly that, if it were to become law and were not successfully challenged in the courts, almost any form of taxation of a penalizing nature could be levied on the huge corps of Washington correspondents and press bureaus engaged in the preparation of "news items" and special features and photographs for newspapers, magazines, radio or television.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Everything — good and bad — happened to Eleanor Hansberry early. She was married at the age of 15, divorced at 18, married again in the same year, divorced at 20, and married to another man at 20, and went broke trying to peddle a loaf of bread.

That's chapter one. She has big moist eyes the size of baby wading pools and gold trapeze earrings and a one-sided sophisticated smile. She was an only child, born Eleanor Roth in Canton, Ohio. Her father, Leopold Maximilian Roth, moved to South Bend, Indiana. It seemed natural that, at 15, Eleanor the Airt would marry a Notre Dame football player named Jimmy McQuern.

Young girls who are in love with love are born losers. Three years later, Eleanor divorced McQuern and took her infant, Mary Jane, to Chicago. A stock broker named Harry Hansberry took a look and staked a marital claim to child and infant. He drank. The bride was still growing when she sued for divorce and married an advertising genius named Don Dunkle.

She had another baby — Gaye — and she was prepared to make Mr. Dunkle happy, but he kept turning the lights off in the apartment and refusing to pay phone bills. In no time at all, a girl will become discouraged and start making other plans. Love needs light. And a two-way telephone.

The young lady stopped growing upward, but began to spread outward. She weighed 145 pounds and dreaded to give up that morning toast. Idly, the young lady wondered if anyone had tried to make a non-fattening loaf of bread. Or, let us say, less fattening.

With one hand, she began to divorce Dunkle, and with the other, she was explaining to Elam Health Foods that she had an idea for bread. They had experimental ovens, and they tried Eleanor's formula. It consisted of eight vegetables — parsley, celery, carrots, cabbage, cauliflower, artichoke, lettuce and pumpkin. To this, she added a smidge of seaweed. "That," she said, "is five per cent of the loaf. The rest is flour, honey, skim milk, molasses, malt, no sugar and no shortening. Go ahead. Bake it."

She waited. And tasted. It had good flavor. The average one pound loaf of bread runs between 64 and 80 calories per slice. Eleanor's came to 46 a slice. "One more thing," she said. "Most loaves are cut into eighteen slices. I want mine thin sliced to 25 per loaf."

Harry Hansberry began to call on her and the children. He proposed, and she said "Why not?" She remarried him and, when he heard about the bread, he laughed until he fell into a chair. "Ridiculous!" he said. Bitterly, she wondered why she had never asked for alimony from these men.

Harry wouldn't put a dime into bread. However, he knew a man named Hobe Hipwell, who was about to be fired from a brokerage house, and he had $1,000 in cash. Mrs. Hansberry gave Hipwell 49 per cent of her bread company for his cash. She was young and ambitious, and she didn't believe that half a loaf was better than none.

She wanted all of it. She went to California and decided to sell franchises. Hollywood seemed so glamorous that the bread was named after the movie capital. Movie stars, such as Elizabeth Taylor, Joan Crawford, Jane Russell, Judy Garland, Grace Kelly and Joan Fontaine gave Eleanor permission to place their pictures inside stars on the bread wrapper.

All of this was in the 1940's. The struggle was so difficult that, for a time, Eleanor Hansberry's income was $25 a week. Last week, Mrs. Bishop and I sat on a yacht named Miss Hollywood III, listening to a young grand-mother talk about husbands and bread. Harry died in 1959, and his widow still has a soft spot in her heart for love.

But not in her head. Long ago, she purchased Dunkle's part of the company. In 50 states, 25,000 grocery stores sell Eleanor's bread. The company is worth $12,000,000, but grandma won't sell. In 1962, she stole a vice-president, Harvey "Pat" Patterson, from another flour company. He runs the business with an eye on all the pennies.

Jack Anderson Says Nuclear Material Now Is Available to Black Market

WASHINGTON — Despite strenuous world efforts to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons, it has now become possible for any nation to possess the atomic bomb. Even a renegade group such as the Black Panthers or Minutemen could piece together a nuclear warhead and a missile to launch it.

All it would take is a little cash and an unscrupulous scientist. Indeed, a dropout from a high school science class could probably construct a crude atomic bomb in a basement or backyard garage. All the instructions for a homemade bomb, complete with scale drawings, are available in a number of scientific publications.

With such a weapon, Washington could be blown right out of the Potomac Valley. Guerrilla forces could paralyze the government. Hate groups could pull off mass slaughters.

Enough nuclear material to build 3,000 atomic bombs is now floating around unprotected. The Atomic Energy Commission is doing its desperate best to keep track of these dangerous ingredients.

Its methods, however, consist primarily of accounting procedures. The AEC keeps watch over the total nuclear mass by taking periodic inventories. But the results depend largely on figures submitted by private manufacturers.

Several months can pass before a theft is discovered — much too late to stop delivery to a foreign power or underground group. Two mysterious disappearances have already shaken the scientific world to its very roots.

In September, 1966, enough material to build six A-bombs disappeared from a processing plant run by the Nuclear Materials and Equipment corporation at Apollo, Pa. Officials later claimed that most of the material was recovered. Insiders have told this column, however, that some of the material could have been diverted for weapons manufacture.

Also in 1966, a worker at the Bradwell Atomic Plant near London stole $25,000 worth of combustible fuel elements. Fortunately, he was caught in the act of tossing them over the security fence.

Until a few years ago, the federal government maintained a careful monopoly on nuclear production. However, fissionable materials have now come into great demand for "peaceful purposes" — chiefly for use in nuclear reactors to generate electricity. As a result, an entirely new nuclear manufacturing industry has sprung up, completely private and competitive.

Routine Risks
Every day, fissionable materials are processed in these plants and shipped by truck and plane to all parts of the country. About once a month, nuclear materials are flown overseas on commercial airliners. The routine is fraught with risk.

Risk No. 1 — These private plants are poorly guarded and loosely staffed. Only in rare cases are employees given more than the most perfunctory security check.

Risk No. 2 — Few controls are enforced over nuclear shipments. Truck drivers aren't required to follow any prescribed route. They are not armed. There is no checking in. The priceless nuclear loads are handled no differently, essentially, than baby food or bottled beer. Parenthetically, truck thefts cost the industry $600 million last year, almost double the losses in 1967.

Risk No. 3 — As for the air shipments, anyone familiar with current events is aware that airline hijacking has become distressingly frequent.

Processed uranium is 60 times more valuable than gold, temptation enough to smugglers. As yet, there is no evidence of an organized black market in fissionable materials. But given the high stakes and the inadequate controls, the emergence of a black market is almost inevitable.

Once fissionable materials are obtained, the rest is easy. For a bomb the size that destroyed Nagasaki, all the hardware needed is an old bomb casing, a tube the size of a 155-mm artillery barrel, and some dynamite or TNT to trigger it.

It would be almost as simple for mercenary scientists to put together a missile. The ease of such an operation was demonstrated only last month when Joseph Seitz, a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, constructed an ICBM from parts he obtained from junk dealers.

He could have saved himself the trouble by contacting salvage dealer Frank Fink, owner of B & F Enterprises of Hawthorne, Mass., who told this column: "Seitz was waiting his time buying the rockets piecemeal. They are available whole. I have an invitation now from the Defense Logistics Services Center in Battle Creek, Mich., to bid on a group of Titan IIC missiles."

The Defense Department does a big surplus business. The hardware that is sold to the public is supposed to be "demilitarized." But many extremely dangerous military items apparently slip by with a minimum of demilitarization.

Urgent action is needed to keep bootleg nuclear missiles from falling into the hands of some tinhorn tyrant.

Fulbright's Questions
Senate Foreign Relations Chairman William Fulbright should be able to get the answers to his questions about the controversial military pact with Thailand when Graham Martin comes up for confirmation as ambassador to Italy.

Martin was ambassador to Thailand when the pact was negotiated. It reportedly calls for U.S. troops to be rushed to the rescue of Thailand in case of invasion or insurrection.

Secretary of State Bill Rogers and Secretary of Defense Mel Laird have insisted that the pact is merely a contingency plan and is not binding upon either government. However, Martin was reported to be disturbed over the secret pact at the time it was signed. He could hardly refuse to answer Fulbright's questions at the Senate hearing on his appointment to Rome.

Anderson, Avowed Muckracker, To Continue Pearson Tradition

It was with great sadness that we at the Bell-McClure Syndicate received news of the passing of Drew Pearson — the "master of the expose." Following is a brief profile of Mr. Pearson's close associate, Jack Anderson, who will continue the Washington Merry-Go-Round in the Pearson tradition.

WASHINGTON — Jack Anderson, whose relentless digging has made him one of America's top investigative reporters, is nothing like the Hollywood version of the hard-drinking, hard-swearing news hound.

He neither drinks nor swears — nor, for that matter, has he ever been seen with a cigarette drooping from the corner of his mouth. He avoids cocktail parties, shuns night life, has no time for the hard games in the back rooms. He is more likely to be found teaching Sunday school or romping with his nine children.

This intense young man has been at the bottom of some of the biggest exposes that have come out of Washington. His stories, written with the late Drew Pearson, have brought convictions of tax violators, five percenters and embezzlers.

His evidence helped to convict three Congressmen of taking kickbacks. His legwork on the underworld was instrumental in persuading the Senate to authorize the late Senator Estes Kefauver's celebrated investigation of the underworld. It was his relentless investigating that led to the ouster of Richard Mack of the Federal Communications Commission.

Commissioner of the FCC) and it was Anderson who first broke the tax scandal, revealing how, with Lyndon B. Johnson's help, General Dynamics received the contract for the aircraft, thus overruling a review board decision awarding the contract to Boeing. Anderson also detailed what was wrong with the plane.

Recently, Anderson has probed deeply into the accident involving Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Mary Jo Kopechne, the young secretary who died when the Senator's car went over a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island. His investigation has resulted in the disclosures that Kennedy tried to have his cousin, Joe Gargan, take the rap for him, and that the youthful presidential hopeful did not, as claimed, swim across to Edgartown that tragic night.

Anderson started out to help the late Senator Joe McCarthy with his investigation of Communists, quickly became alarmed over his methods, and concluded his shotgun charges were helping, not hurting, the Communist cause.

Anderson immediately began investigating McCarthy, and summed up his finding in the first book, written with Ronald May: "McCarthy, the man, the Senator, the ism." The facts Anderson and May dug out played an important part in three congressional investigations of McCarthy.

It was Anderson again who wrote the first stories about White House aide Sherman Adams' intervention to save Bernard Goldfine from criminal prosecution at the same time that Adams was accepting valuable gifts from the textile tycoon. These stories led to House hearings that rocked the Eisenhower administration and forced Adams to resign. Pearson and Anderson also exposed how the United States had fallen behind Russia in missile development. Their book, "USA — second class power?" Helped to prod President Eisenhower into putting America back into the space race.

In March, 1963, angry Congressmen challenged Anderson to appear before a special hearing to back up charges he had made in a magazine article, "Congressmen who cheat."

When he showed up at the hearing with a long statement which he said contained names and details, the Congressmen backed down. They refused to listen to his testimony and adjourned the hearing before he could read his statement.

If they had listened to the statement, they would have heard for the first time about one of Bobby Baker's back-door deals. The Senate aide later was to become the object of a much-headlined investigation.

Anderson's latest expose, written with Pearson, has forced the Senate, Justice Department, and Internal Revenue to investigate Senator Thomas Dodd, D-Conn.

Anderson frankly describes himself as a muckracker, but he insists his object is not sensationalism but reform. Indeed, he professes to be sympathetic to the public officials who feel the prick of his pen. He considers it the special calling of the press, however, to expose corruption and crusade for reforms. The fact that he would rather write only nice things about everybody doesn't deter him from doing his duty as he sees it.

Jack Northman Anderson, now in his early 40s, was born in Long Beach, Calif., and reared in Salt Lake City, Utah. His father was a postal clerk, his mother a taxi driver.

When he was 12, he got his first newspaper job as a seven-dollars-a-week reporter for the weekly Murray Eagle in the Salt Lake City suburbs. By the time he was 18, he was working on the city desk of the Salt Lake Tribune.

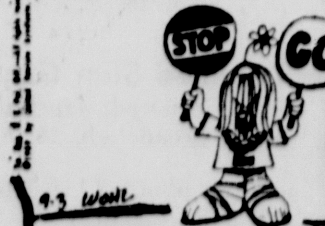

A practicing Mormon, he accepted a call from his church to serve two years, 1942-1943, as a full-time missionary in the Southern states. He still teaches Sunday school and delivers an occasional sermon.

He served briefly during World War II as a cadet officer in the Merchant Marine, resigned to accept credentials as a civilian war correspondent. He was accompanying a band of Chinese guerrillas behind Japanese lines when the draft board tried to induct him. Not until he emerged from behind the lines after the armistice were the authorities able to locate the prospective soldier. Inducted in China, he was assigned to the Shanghai edition of the Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes. Anderson joined Drew Pearson's staff after his return to the states in 1947, will continue the Washington Merry-Go-Round column "in the Pearson tradition." Anderson also is Washington Editor of Parade Magazine and does a syndicated TV news commentary.

The Gallup Poll

Many Smokers Cut Down Last Year

By GEORGE GALLUP
Copyright, 1969, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 3—A nationwide Gallup survey of smoking habits brings these important facts to light:

- Forty per cent of adults smoke cigarettes today. Sixty per cent are non-smokers, with a third of this group saying they did smoke previously.
- A majority of smokers (64 per cent) smoke nearly a pack a day or more.
- Four adult smokers in ten (41 per cent) say they have cut down on their smoking during the last year.

- Seventy-one per cent of all adults interviewed think smoking is a cause of lung cancer. Far fewer, 44 per cent, held this view in the last previous survey on the subject in 1958.
- Sixty per cent of all adults today think smoking is a cause of heart disease. In 1957, thirty-eight per cent did so.
- Smoking is thought to be a cause of lung cancer and heart disease by a majority of smokers. When smokers who hold these views were asked why they continue smoking, most said either "I can't quit" or "I don't want to quit."

To obtain a representative sample of the adult civilian population, over 300 different sampling locations or areas were selected on a strictly random basis. Approximately five personal interviews were conducted in each such location or area. A total of 1517 adults were reached in the survey which was conducted July 26 through 28. This question was asked first to identify smokers:

Following are the national results:

How Many Cigarettes Per Day? (Responses of smokers)

Light smokers (1-15)	33%
Moderate (16-25)	42%
Heavy (26 or more)	22%
Don't know	3%

100%

Smokers were then asked: Have you cut down on cigarette smoking during the last year?

The national results:

Cut Down on Smoking?	Yes 41%	No 59%
----------------------	-------------------	------------------

All persons in the survey were then asked the following two questions:

What is your opinion, do you think cigarette smoking is or is not one of the causes of cancer of the lung? Do you think cigarette smoking is or is not one of the causes of heart disease?

Following are the results, nationally and by age, education, smokers and non-smokers:

Smoking On Campus

Have you, yourself, smoked any cigarettes in the past week, or not?

Forty per cent replied in the affirmative. A greater proportion of smokers are found among men than women. Younger persons in their twenties are more likely to be smokers than older persons.

45 Per Cent Smoked in '58

In the earlier 1958 survey, the percentage of smokers was somewhat higher than today, 45 per cent. Fifteen years ago, in 1954, the proportion was also 45 per cent. Twenty-five years ago, in 1944, the percentage was 41 per cent, closely comparable to the latest survey finding.

Democratic and Republican liberals as worse than useless in a critical age when problems are compounding.

Some of the practical ones simply laugh at the emotional agitation the doctrinaires invest in "verbal commitment."

For another, the partisan liberals' irresponsibility on the issue of public money, a characteristic failing, today puts them dangerously out of tune with the nation's mood. The spiraling resistance of many middle-class elements to the climb of taxes and government spending is reflected in an impatience which approaches that exhibited by militants who demand action at any cost.

Whatever the program, the doctrinaires inevitably proclaim that the money proposed for it is "inadequate." The hard truth is that millions of Americans think the inadequacy lies with those political figures who argue for new spending of more billions.

Perhaps the most crucial factor in the doctrinaires' dilemma, though, is their growing recklessness as to the means of attaining their goals.

Many of them stand right at the precipice. They talk constantly of the slowness and the failures of the democratic process. Frequently excusing or minimizing the violence of the radical left, they stop just short of autocratic government.

Part of the explanation is their cumulative frustration—piled up heavily in recent years—at the country's refusal to be guided by their emotional clamor. Part is the partisan liberals' wish to identify closely with the rampaging students and black militants they regard as their count is high, but they register low on the achievement chart.

Their dilemma is at least three-fold in nature. For one thing, their penchant for talking the game instead of playing it strikes the pragmatic

Westward Ho Still Popular For Americans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The migratory urge that has pushed millions of Americans toward the West is far from dead, the Census Bureau's newest population figures show.

Since 1960 the Pacific States have gained more than 22 percent in population, far outstripping every other region in growth, the bureau said Tuesday in estimating the nation's population as of last July 1.

No region has lost people, but 7 of the 13 have grown less than the national average.

By using complicated methods based on school enrollment data and previous estimates, the bureau figures the nation on July 1 had 201,921,000 people—2,072,000 more than one year earlier.

The estimate is 12.6 percent, or 22,598,000 people higher than the 1960 census figures.

Although California's phenomenal growth has padded its title as the most populous of states by more than a million residents, neighboring Nevada has the highest growth rate percentage.

Nevada has grown by 60.2 percent since the last census, from 285,000 in 1960 to 457,000 this year.

California gained 3,725,000 people, 23.7 percent, in the same period.

Behind California in size come New York, Pennsylvania, Texas and Illinois.

Only four states showed losses. They were North and South Dakota which lost 2.8 and 3.2 percent; West Virginia which lost 2.2 percent; and Wyoming which lost 2.9 percent.

Compared to the larger states, none of the four had a sizable population to begin with. Large but thinly settled Wyoming had only 330,000 people and lost 10,000. West Virginia had 1,860,000 in 1960 and fell to 1,819,000, a loss of 42,000.

The Dakotas lost about 22,000 each.

Mississippi and Alabama, which are generally thought to be the starting point for much of the rural migration to the cities, gained population.

Mississippi's population rose 8.4 percent in the nine years from 2,178,000 to 2,360,000. Alabama's rose 8.1 percent from 3,267,000 to 3,531,000.

Classes meet one evening a week for 15 weeks, starting the week of September 8. First class meetings will be on the evening indicated from 7:30 to 9:30, excepting Dance which will meet from 6:30 to 8:30. All courses, with the exception of Photography, carry 2 credits. The fee for each course is $45.00.

Register by mail, or phone (914) 758-6072, or in the office of the President a half hour before first class meeting.

Probe Continues
Police continued investigation today of the reported theft of a car belonging to Louis McLean of 181 Center Street, Ellenville. The late model vehicle was taken sometime Monday night and early Tuesday the vehicle was involved in an accident on Albany Avenue.

Kingston police notified Ellenville authorities, according to Chief Abe Rand, that the driver of the vehicle fled on foot after the mishap and search of the area failed to find any trace of him.

Four Homes Destroyed In Gas Truck Mishap

WARSAW, N.Y. (UPI)—Sheets of flame fed by a crashed tank truck spewing 8,000 gallons of gasoline leveled four homes, damaged at least seven and scorched several others in this Wyoming County community Tuesday.

One man was known dead and another, the truck driver, was listed in fair condition at Wyoming County Community Hospital. The dead man, burned to death in the wreckage, was not immediately identified.

At least 10 persons were homeless following the fires in this village of about 3,600. A sheriff's department spokesman said early today that although there was no order to evacuate, many residents left on their own because of the threat of explosions from gasoline fumes in sewer lines.

Firemen rushed to the scene of one such explosion hours after the main blaze was under control when a pilot light sparked fumes seeping into a home. Following the explosion, Sheriff Dalton Carney asked residents to turn off gas and electricity, and work crews were called in to shut down main gas lines leading into the village.

Volunteer firemen, who numbered up to 400 at the height of the blaze, fought stubborn fires in sewer lines late into the night and poured thousands of gallons of water into sewer lines in an attempt to flush out the gasoline.

Officials said it would be days before a complete damage estimate could be made.

Reports of two persons missing from the destroyed homes were unconfirmed.

"We made a diligent search and they are all accounted for as far as we know," Carney said.

The inferno was touched off when the tank truck, driven by John Malatta, 25, of Macedon careened down a steep road leading into the village, police said.

State troopers said Malatta was driving down the East Hill on Route 20A when his brakes failed. Police described the hill, a steep one with a bend in it midway, as the scene of many accidents.

Malatta told police the last thing he saw was a gold colored car coming at him. The truck pushed the car, a station wagon, into a tree. Police said Malatta somehow escaped as the truck exploded in flames.

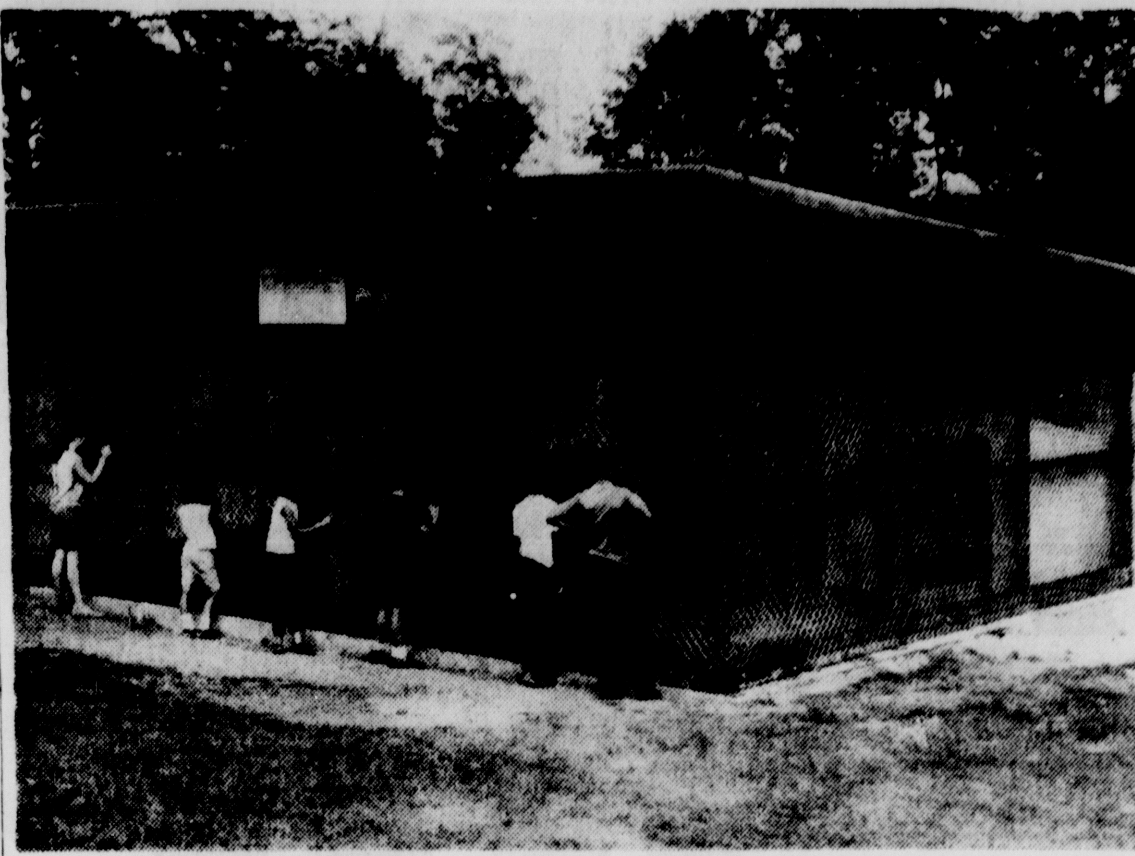

Eyewitnesses said the exploding gasoline tore the tanker into unrecognizable shreds.

Five frame houses on the north side of the street and a sixth on the south side were in flames in minutes. The fires, fed by a stream of gasoline, completely consumed and destroyed four homes within less than half an hour.

Firemen suffocated the tanker blaze with foam, wetted down nearby homes and battled 20 foot tongues of flame licking up through sewer openings.

One eyewitness said he saw heavy smoke rising from the village about 10 miles away as he drove toward the fire.

"It was terrible," one eyewitness said. "I saw flames shooting out of sewers all the way down to Main Street everywhere I looked."

NEW HOME FOR SMOKEY — Smokey the bear is all but hidden by admiring children in his new cage at Forsyth Park. The new quarters allow sufficient room for the 400 pound American Black Bear, a year-round attraction at the city's zoo. City recreation officials, assisted by experts from the Catskill Game Farm, moved the bear to his new quarters last week. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

New Hurricane Lashes Beaches Off Honduras

MIAMI (UPI) — Hurricane force winds were said to be lashing the coast of Honduras today, and then stalled off the coast, lashing beaches with 10-foot tides.

The storm rolled to a halt some 30 miles east of Punta Gorda and some 30 miles north of Puerto Barrios in the extreme southwest Gulf of Honduras.

Hurricane forecaster Ray Kraft said most of Francelia's ter said flash flooding is likely through portions of British Honduras and Guatemala today and probably into Thursday.

Kraft said the high mountains that drop almost straight into the Gulf of Honduras may cause the storm to drift toward the southwest later today.

At 6 a.m., EDT, Kraft said Francelia was centered near latitude 16.2 north and longitude 88.5 west.

Congress Returns to Work Today—Faces Broad Agenda, Leftovers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 91st Congress ended a three-week vacation today and returned to a crush of unfinished business, including growing controversies over military spending, tax reform and a Supreme Court nomination—which likely will keep it in session until Christmas.

Both houses were due back at noon EDT. Unlike other years when adjournment fever took hold after Labor Day, the prospect of quitting before Christmas was hardly being discussed. This was the first time Congress had taken what freely acknowledged as a summer vacation.

Heading the agenda was the 300 billion defense procurement bill, which has been debated in the Senate since Independence Day and has tied up other congressional business.

After that, the Senate probably will plunge into another battle—this one over Nixon's nomination of U.S. Appeals Court Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. as a Supreme Court justice. Opposition from civil rights groups and organized labor almost guaranteed a floor fight and, possibly, a close vote. Confirmation hearings, which could be stormy because of an alleged conflict of interest, begin Tuesday.

Also unresolved was the continuing controversy over reforming the nation's tax structure, which Democrats are demanding as the price for continuation of the 10 per cent Vietnam War surtax. Senate Finance Committee hearings start Thursday and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy was expected to seek wholesale changes in a House passed omnibus reform bill, which is aimed at lightening the load for ordinary taxpayers while increasing taxes for businesses and the very wealthy.

The House's limited work schedule this week includes a bill to require tire manufacturers to notify purchasers of product defects just as auto manufacturers are now required in the sale of cars. The tire provision is included in a bill that would extend the 1966 Motor Vehicle Safety Act through fiscal 1972 with $93 million in new authorizations spread over the three years.

On top of all this, Congress still faces long and complicated sessions on appropriations bills to support the government in the fiscal year that started July 1. Two months into the bookkeeping year, not one of the major money bills has been sent to President Nixon and government agencies are operating on a contingency basis.

No Vote on Offer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A spokesman for the striking employees of the Niagara Frontier Transit System said Tuesday that a membership meeting would be Thursday, but that no vote would be taken on any contract offer.

Darwin H. Bohn, president of Division 1342 of the Transit Union, representing 1,100 striking workers, said no vote would be taken even if both sides agreed on a new contract offer at a joint meeting today.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

GOP Headquarters Opens Friday

SAUGERTIES Local and county Republican candidates, prominent guests, and the music of "Just Three Plus One" group, will mark the grand opening of the 1969 Republican Headquarters, Republican Committee chairman, Donald R. McCaig announced this week.

The opening will be Friday, 7:30 p. m., at the newly renovated party headquarters at the Bus Terminal Building, Partition Street.

The party is very proud of the candidates nominated at the town and county conventions. Chairman McCaig said, and cordially invites all interested citizens to attend and meet them personally. The enthusiasm shown at this year's party functions, the town convention, and even the actual renovation of party headquarters can only forecast an equally enthusiastic and successful campaign, he said.

The headquarters has been prepared for the campaign by the Headquarters Committee, headed by Herbert Hommel. The members of the committee are: Vernon Benjamin, William Schaffer, Jack Greco, Florence Lang, Charles Fous, Frank Nacarato, William Woestendiek and Inez Steele.

Plans for the grand opening including the entertainment and refreshments were made by the Special Events Committee, chaired by Eugene Davis. Members of the committee are: Michael Caruso, Charles Maxfield, Clarence Gardner, Marilyn Daley, Virginia Carnright, Mrs. Hobart Morton, Donald Martin, Janet Stauss, Kathleen Gardner and Kay Scala.

As evidenced by such active committee participation, the theme of this year's campaign is one of involvement in party affairs by both old and new faces in the Republican party. McCaig noted.

Candidates for the County

Legislature, incumbents Clifford Snyder and Freeman Lasher, and Jerome Daley and Charles Scala, will be on hand for the opening as well as the town candidates, Horace Emerick, seeking the post of town supervisor; Charles Bach, superintendent of highways; incumbent Marion Newkirk, town clerk; incumbent Frank Hallion, town councilman; incumbent Calvin Cody, justice of the peace; incumbent William Woestendiek, collector of taxes and Francis "Sonny" Myer, town councilman.

Invited guests will include Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., State Senator Jay P. Rolison, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, Ulster County Chairman Albert Spada, Second Vice-Chairman Sally Brinnier, County Treasurer Fred H. DuBois, District Attorney Joseph Toracca, County Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago, and City of Kingston Republican Chairman Melvin Mones.

"Just Three Plus One," a local rock band, will tour the village and township heralding the opening and will provide the entertainment at the affair.

Membership Tea Of LWV Slated

Saugerties League of Women Voters will hold its annual membership tea for new and prospective members on Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 8 p. m., at the historic Kiersted house, home of League member Mrs. Charles Steele.

Membership chairman Mrs. William Peetoom today invited all area women interested in finding out more about the League of Women Voters and requested those planning to attend call her for reservations.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization established to promote informed participation of citizens in their government. Membership is open to all women citizens of voting age.

Must Pay Way

LONDON (AP) — Trevor Sewell, gardener at the 550-year-old Caister Castle near Great Yarmouth on the east coast, has offered one month's free vacation for two old-age pensioners on condition that they feed the castle's 30 ducks. Sewell and his wife missed their vacation last year because no replacement could be found to feed the ducks and he's taking no chances this time.

WOODSTOCK

Membership Reception Slated by LWV Tonight

WOODSTOCK The Woodstock League of Women Voters is having its annual membership reception at St. Gregory's Parish Hall, Rt. 212, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The League, a non-partisan group dedicated to voter service and the involvement of women in political issues on national, state and local levels, is having its 50th anniversary this year. The Woodstock Chapter, just 10 years old, has been active in studying such local issues as zoning and the County Charter.

The reception is open to any interested women living in the Woodstock area. There will be tea, coffee, and home-made cakes served. Mrs. Dwight Harris, chairman of the reception, has promised an interesting and varied program.

There will be a short general meeting, followed by one minute speeches by the chairmen of the various items studied in the Woodstock League. Mrs. Stephen Krosner will speak on the Electoral College; Mrs. E. A. Paulick of Woodstock.

James Wood will outline the League's position on voting age; Mrs. William Malloy on Woodstock zoning and Mrs. Carl Grant on County Government. Mrs. Santo Cali will talk about the work done for voter service and Mrs. Ephraim Schaefer will speak on Constitution Making.

To top off the program, Mrs. Frank Falkner will speak on practical politics and how to become involved. To add the light touch, Mrs. James Mulligan will do a satirical monologue on the League.

Tuesday Club

WOODSTOCK Miss Beatrice Sturtevant Gardner of the Gardner Galleries, Woodstock, will be the speaker at a luncheon of the Tuesday Club to be held at the Holiday Inn on September 9 at 1 p.m.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made through Mrs. E. A. Paulick of Woodstock.

Brown, Kin Transferred to Benedictine

KINGSTON
 Two county residents who were seriously injured in a traffic accident on Route 17 near the Orange County community of Tuxedo Park on Sunday, Aug. 24, have been transferred from Tuxedo Memorial Hospital to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors Ambulance Service.
 They are James M. Brown, 42, of Glenerie Lake Park, Saugerties, and his nephew, Donald T. White Jr., 12, of Box 1, Malden.
 They were injured when a mail truck driven by Brown overturned as he swerved to avoid a collision with an unidentified vehicle. The van truck, owned by Fred Lewis of Middletown, collided with a car operated by Arthur Brown of Flushing, after it upset on the highway.
 The Saugerties man and the boy suffered multiple fractures and other injuries.

Rifles Reissued

LONDON (AP)—British army riflemen will soon be able to kill at distances up to 1,000 yards for the first time since a North Atlantic Treaty Organization rifle with a 400-yard range was introduced as standard equipment in 1958. Selected infantrymen are being issued old long-range Lee Enfield .303 rifles for training as snipers.

Posthumous Award For Saugerties GI

Sgt. Michael J. Winters, the late son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Winters of 51 Hill Street, Saugerties, who was killed in Vietnam on April 21, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device.

Sgt. Winters was fatally wounded when enemy rocket fire hit his position on April 19. He was cited for his attempts, though badly wounded, to rescue his stricken comrades.

The sergeant, who was promoted to his present rank, posthumously, also received the Purple Heart, the Vietnamese Service Medal, the National Defense Medal, the Good Conduct Medal and the New York State Conspicuous Service Cross.

The Ulster County Legislature adjourned in memory of the Saugerties sergeant after its May 8 meeting.

Sgt. Winters had only five weeks of duty before being eligible for leave when he was fatally injured. He had joined the Army in January of 1968 about a week before his 20th birthday.

Before entering the service, Sgt. Winters was employed by the Lehigh Cement Company in Cementon. He was a 1966 graduate of Saugerties High School and was active in athletics while in high school.

Dennis Reilly

U. S. Air Force Sergeant Dennis M. Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Reilly of Esopus, has arrived for duty at Osan AB, Republic of Korea.

Sergeant Reilly, a personnel specialist, is assigned to a unit of the Air Force Communications Service. He previously served with the 443rd Combat Crew Training Wing at Davis-Monthan AFB, Arizona.

The sergeant is a 1965 graduate of Kingston High School.

In the SERVICE

Honor Krom, Promote Cowan

Army Doctor Martin Cowan and gynecologist at Lyster has been promoted to major Army Hospital at Fort Rucker, Ala., while Sp/4 Thomas L. Krom has been awarded the Army Commendation Medal while stationed at Phu Loi, Vietnam.

Gary Wilson

Hospitalman Apprentice Gary K. Wilson, USN, son of Mrs. Mary A. Wilson of Route 1, Kingston, was graduated last month from the 14-week basic Hospital Corps School, Great Lakes, Ill.

The school is located at the Naval Training Center here and is designed to train both men and women of the Navy and Coast Guard.

THOMAS KROM

AF Promotes Hill, Dousharm

Two local men have been promoted to sergeant by the Air Force. Joseph Dousharm and Christopher Hill.

Sgt. Hill, son of Walter F. Hill of 148 Main Street, Saugerties, was promoted while serving as an administrative specialist at Hamilton AFB in California. He is a graduate of Saugerties High School and has attended Golden Gate College extension and San Francisco State College extension at Hamilton.

Sgt. Dousharm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Dousharm of 9 Mountain Road, Rosendale, has been promoted to staff sergeant. The sergeant is a jet mechanic at Bergstrom AFB near Austin, Texas.

He is a graduate of Rondout Valley High School in Stone Ridge. His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anzalone of 69 Main Street, Highland.

New Captain

CHARLES BIELINSKI

Captain Charles R. Bielinski was promoted to his present rank on Aug. 18 while stationed at Quan Lai, Vietnam. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Bielinski of 4 Park Circle, Mt. Marion and is married to the former Miss Cheryl Kellogg of Saugerties, now residing in Oneonta. The captain serves as a helicopter pilot and aviation maintenance officer for the First Air Cavalry Division. Capt. Bielinski is a 1965 graduate of Saugerties High School and attended Ulster County Community College until entering the Army in October of 1966. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant in August of 1967 at Fort Knox, Ky.

JAN BELL—Navy Storekeeper Third Class Jan L. Bell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Bell, of Holiday Lane, Kingston, was recently promoted to his present rank while serving at the U.S. Naval Station at DaNang, Vietnam. Bell, a graduate of Kingston High School, is expected home in April. He joined the Navy in August of last year.

New 'Rock' Proposal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Now they want to turn Alcatraz into a memorial for policemen. It's the latest proposal to city officials, who want to buy "The Rock" from the federal government, which abandoned the island six years ago as a prison.

Officers Security Corp., an insurance company for police agencies, wants to turn it into a 600-room hotel, shopping plaza and marina with a monument dedicated to law enforcement.

Policemen would be invited to invest in the $40 million project, to include a heliport and convention facilities.

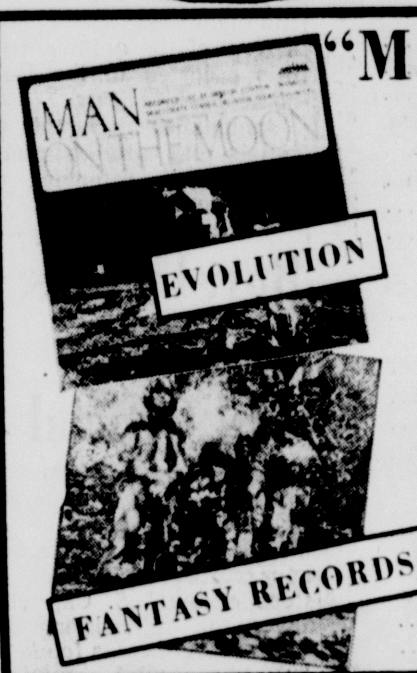

Gored by Bull

SAYRE, Pa. (AP) — A 49-year-old Sayreville man was in serious condition Wednesday after being gored Tuesday by a bull.

Police said Elwyn VanDeMark and his son Keith, 19, had gone into the bull's pasture to retrieve it.

As VanDeMark approached the bull from the front, the animal charged, gored him in the lower abdomen and threw him in the air.

Youths Charged In Car Case

KINGSTON

Two youths were arrested early today by police on charges of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, after authorities investigated a complaint that a car belonging to Faranzi Olson of 234 Main Street had been taken without permission.

Booked were Karl T. Olsen, 20, a brother of the complainant, and Michael A. Pluss, 17, of 22 South Road, Mt. Marion. Olsen also was charged with possessing a fictitious driver's license, which apparently was not issued to him. Police also cited Pluss for failure to produce a registration.

Both youths were held in $1,000 bail pending an appearance in City Court.

According to police, the vehicle was found abandoned on West Union Street.

Olson, police said, had been sought by Army authorities as a deserter. Army officials have been notified of his arrest.

Israeli Jets Strike Jordanian Positions

Israeli war planes today bombed and strafed Jordanian artillery positions, then carried out a 20-minute strike against suspected Arab guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon. A Tel Aviv spokesman said both raids were in reprisal for attacks on Israel.

The last Israeli air attack against Lebanon brought a sharp reprimand from the United Nations Security Council, but the planes struck today after the Arabs carried out a rocket attack on the border town of Kiriati Shmona Tuesday night.

The mortar attack killed two persons including a 12-year-old boy and wounded four persons including a pregnant woman.

Residents of Israeli settlements along the Lebanese border said the air attack began at 11:45 a.m. and lasted until just after noon. It was the first strike against Lebanon since Aug. 11 when Israeli jets hit Kiriati Shmona and the Security Council condemned Israel.

A Lebanese military spokesman reported Lebanese and Israeli forces exchanged heavy artillery fire for 35 minutes Tuesday night around Al Arkoub, 60 miles south of Beirut, but made no mention of a rocket attack on an Israeli border settlement. One Lebanese farmer was wounded in the artillery exchange, the spokesman said.

An Israeli spokesman also reported intermittent firing today along the Suez Canal. He said one civilian and one soldier were wounded in the firing which was concentrated north of Port Tewfik.

The spokesman said Israeli artillery opened fire on Jordanian army artillery positions which had shelled an Israeli patrol in the Jordan River Valley three miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

Olivebridge Man Hurt in Garden Tractor Upset

SAMSONVILLE

While operating a garden tractor on his property on Sheldon Hill Road, Olivebridge, shortly before 8 p. m. Tuesday, Theodore Ruhmann, 64, was injured when the machine flipped over and pinned him to the ground.

Ruhmann was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance. He reportedly suffered a possible broken left arm, facial lacerations and injuries of the left leg.

It was reported that Ruhmann was working with the tractor along the driveway at his home when it went down an embankment and overturned. Neighbors went to the aid of the injured man and removed the tractor. Fire Chief Albert Fox of Olivebridge and some firemen went to the scene and Fox treated Ruhmann for shock until the arrival of the ambulance which was escorted to the Ruhmann home by Mrs. Fox.

Ambulance attendants applied splints and administered treatment before removing the injured man.

Boy, 15, Dies; Son of U.S. Rail Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 15-year-old son of a Federal Railroad Administration official died less than an hour after he apparently shot himself on the steps of the U.S. Capitol Tuesday night, authorities reported.

Greg Rogers was found with a .32-caliber bullet wound in his temple. He was discovered near the peace monument at the base of the Capitol's west steps that face the mall linking the Capitol with the Washington Monument. He was rushed to Rogers Memorial Hospital in Washington where he died.

Police said the death apparently was a suicide. A note was found on the youth's body but police did not release it to the family or the press.

Rogers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac E. Rogers of suburban Fairfax County, Va., just south of Alexandria, Va. His father is director of the Bureau of Railroad Safety in the Federal Railroad Administration.

Rogers told The Washington Post his son had been despondent since his brother-in-law Air Force 1st Lt. Gary P. Leach, 26, died in a B52 crash at Anderson AFB on Guam July 27 en route to Vietnam.

Ferrigan Heads County Leukemia Drive

SAWKILL

Robert E. Ferrigan of Sawkill, who is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Upstate New York District of the Leukemia Society, has been named chairman of annual drive in Ulster County. Volunteers numbering 1,200 will be calling on their neighbors from Sept. 7-21 for contributions.

Funds received from the drive will be put to work in an effort to find a cure for this dread disease through research and by financial assistance locally to leukemia victims. The Leukemia Society is now ranked No. 2 in voluntary health organizations directing funds toward research.

Ferrigan is also serving as patient aid chairman for the Kingston area. The patient aid program has been developed to assist the leukemia victim and his family financially by actual payment for clinic and laboratory fees, drugs and for blood transfusions.

ROBERT E. FERRIGAN

Three Kingston physicians—Dr. Louis Neporent, Dr. James Clarkin and Dr. Paul Hoveman—serve on the medical advisory board for the Upstate New York District of the Leukemia Society.

51st Pioneers In Weekend Meet

KINGSTON The Gov. Clinton Hotel will serve as the headquarters for members of the 51st Pioneer Infantry Association this weekend as reunion-bound World War I servicemen and their families converge on Kingston.

The membership of the association includes 12 Kingston residents. The 46th annual reunion of the association begins Saturday night with a dinner in the hotel and dancing until midnight to Harry Maisenholder's orchestra, a former president of the association.

Meetings and a Sunday banquet are included in the association's plans for the weekend. Mrs. Delia T. Shaw, daughter of the late Elting Harp who owned the New Paltz land that served as the base of operation for World War I units guarding the New York City-Catskill Aqueduct, will be a guest speaker for the session.

The 12 from Kingston are Maisenholder, Mrs. Eugene Cornwall, Clarence Maine, LeRoy Markle, Alfred Messinger, Frank Ostrander, Robert Rice, Fred Schwenk, Peter Keresman, Charles H. Bahret, Chris J. Perry and James R. Howard.

Esopus GOP Picnic Sunday

ESOPUS Town of Esopus Republican Club will hold its annual picnic Sunday, Sept. 7 at 1 p.m. at Friendly Acres Motel, Ulster Park.

According to Oscar Lambert, chairman, plans are underway to make the event both financially and socially successful. All Republicans of the township are asked to lend their support.

The picnic will be a day long event with refreshments, games, swimming, a penny social and "good old-fashioned fun," rain or shine.

Many local and county candidates are expected to attend. Tickets may be purchased from any committeeman or member of the Republican Club.

Highway Mishaps Killed 609 in 3-Day Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Highway accidents killed 609 persons across the nation over the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The toll fell short of the 625 to 725 the National Safety Council had estimated for the holiday.

Over a three-day nonholiday weekend in June, deaths totaled 435. The count was made by The Associated Press for comparison with the Labor Day figure.

The counting period for the Labor Day weekend began 6 p.m., local time, Friday and ended midnight Monday.

The Labor Day weekend marked the third straight holiday of 1969 in which traffic fatalities decreased from 1968 figures.

The toll during the 1968 Labor Day period was 688, highest for any Labor Day weekend.

MARINES OUTING — Approximately 200 members of the Ulster County Young Marines enjoyed a field day and picnic sponsored by the unit at Forsyth Park Sunday. A highlight was a softball game between the adult drill instructors and troops. The D.I.'s won but the score was not reported and the boys are calling for a replay. Winners of the Athletes of the Day Award were Bruce Churchwell and Paul Gray, who each received an electric football game. Other prizes went to Gary Thorn and William Clearwater. The unit's mascot, Pfc Jiggs was present and joined in the fun. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Millerton Man Gains Patent

MILLERTON has devised a quick release animal restraining device which is used to retain animals in stalls and is simple and practical in construction and easy to use. As a primary advantage, it copes with the fire hazard problem with certainty and efficiency.

The device of Kaplan's invention comprises a tether which has a neck-encircling loop at one end and a chain-like portion at its other end that is adapted to be inserted in aligned openings in the hitching rail or in a clamping bracket which is secured to the hitching rail. Included also is a latching device and manipulating lever therefor as described in detail in the specifications and drawings of the patent.

In other words, it is a simple matter to secure the device of Kaplan's invention to the hitching rail so that the animal is restrained in the desired manner. The arrangement is such that there is no possibility of the latch being released accidentally. In the case of an emergency or fire, the attendant moves swiftly along the aisle in the barn and flips the latching lever on each restraining device, with the result that the chain portion of the tether becomes released. The animal instinctively pulls on the tether and chain when in a state of panic and, when thus freed, can make a reasonably safe effort to escape from the barn or other enclosure.

Forty-five per cent of this patent has been assigned to Sanford Kaplan, also of Millerton.

Computer Errs
FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — High school officials here relied on a computer to get classes under way Tuesday. The result: They closed the doors an hour after they opened.

A Fairbanks computer firm was to have supplied class lists for the 1,500 students of Lathrop High School, the only one here, but the computer couldn't do it. "Computer error" was blamed.

So, for an hour, teachers and students milled about aimlessly, some wandering the halls, others grabbing the first classroom they found.

Asst. School Supt. Dayton Benjamin said it may be days before the class lists are ready and school can resume. The officials, he said, will be prepared by hand.

EMPLOYEES OF NEW YORK STATE AND ITS LOCAL SUBDIVISIONS

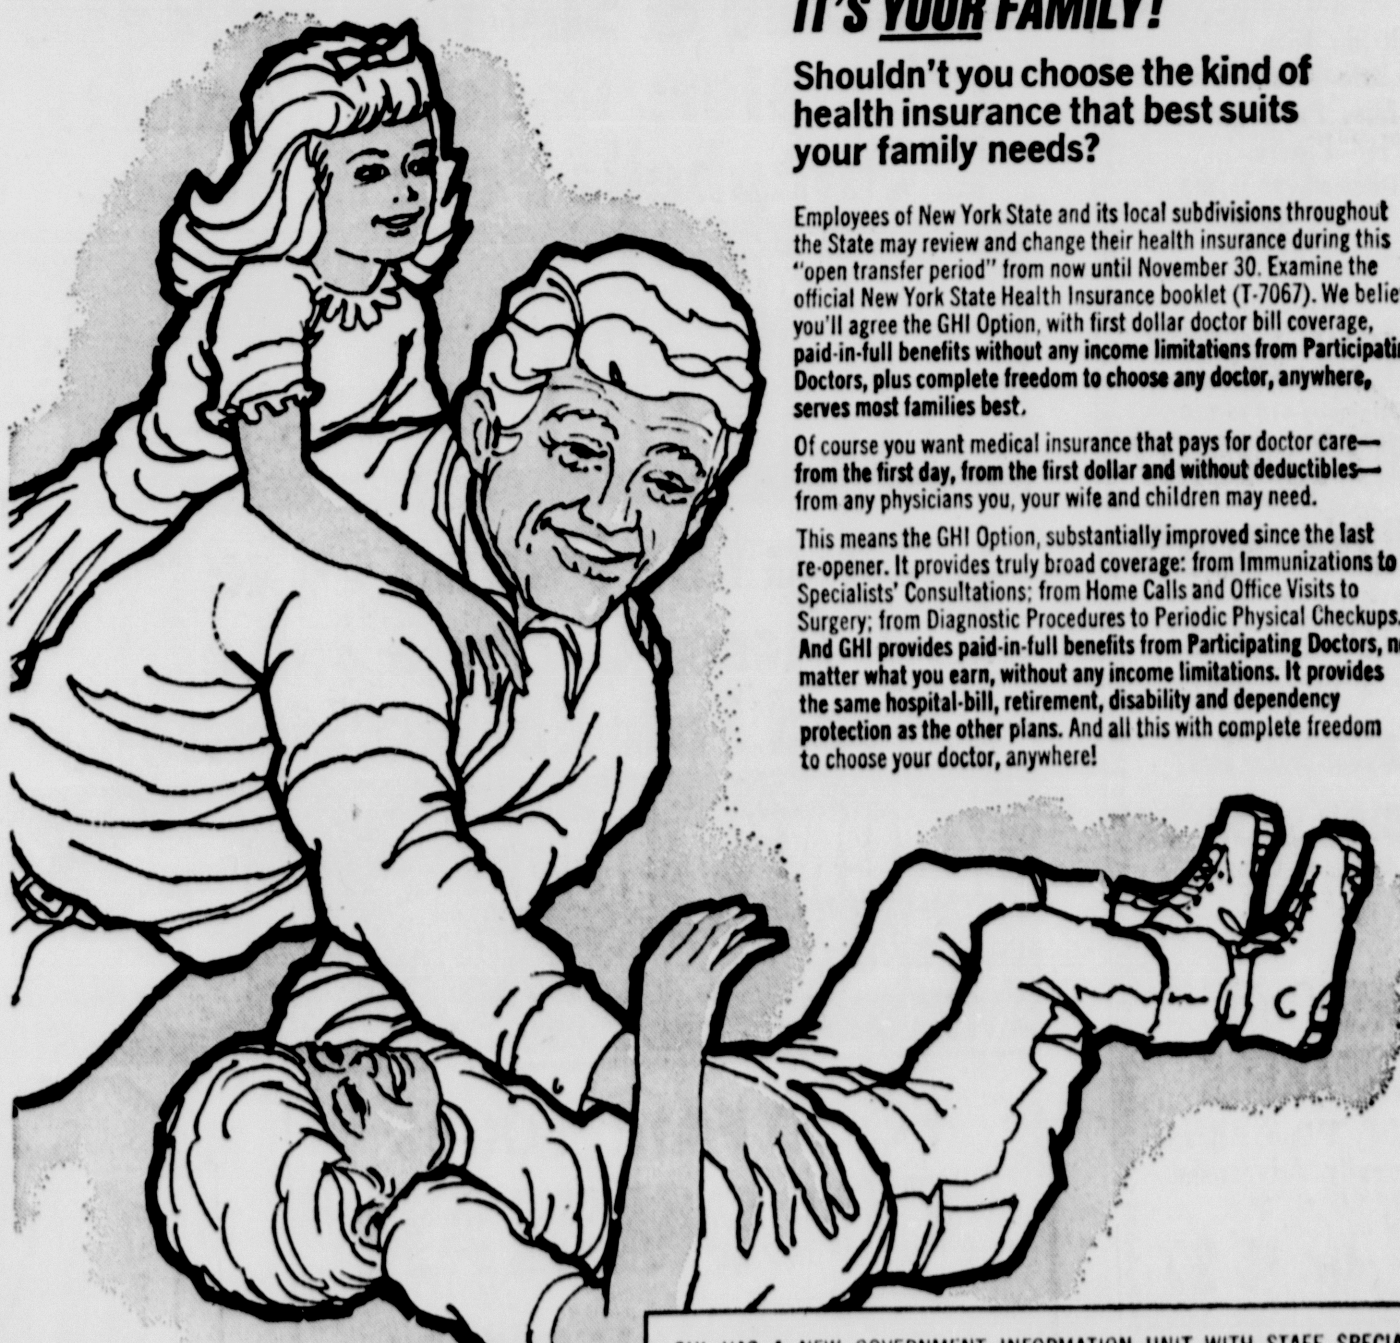

IT'S YOUR FAMILY!

Shouldn't you choose the kind of health insurance that best suits your family needs?

Employees of New York State and its local subdivisions throughout the State may review and change their health insurance during this "open transfer period" from now until November 30. Examine the official New York State Health Insurance booklet (T-7067). We believe you'll agree the GHI Option, with first dollar doctor bill coverage, paid-in-full benefits without any income limitations from Participating Doctors, plus complete freedom to choose any doctor, anywhere, serves most families best.

Of course you want medical insurance that pays for doctor care—from the first day, from the first dollar and without deductibles—from any physicians you, your wife and children may need.

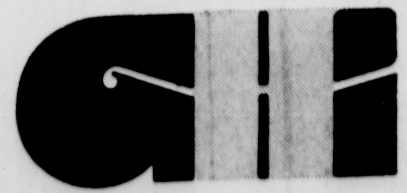

This means the GHI Option, substantially improved since the last re-opener. It provides truly broad coverage: from Immunizations to Specialists' Consultations; from Home Calls and Office Visits to Surgery; from Diagnostic Procedures to Periodic Physical Checkups. And GHI provides paid-in-full benefits from Participating Doctors, no matter what you earn, without any income limitations. It provides the same hospital-bill, retirement, disability and dependency protection as the other plans. And all this with complete freedom to choose your doctor, anywhere!

GHI HAS A NEW GOVERNMENT INFORMATION UNIT WITH STAFF SPECIALLY TRAINED TO ASSIST PUBLIC EMPLOYEES—FEDERAL, STATE, CITY AND LOCAL.

"Vernon Myer Phone 943-5520"

Bernadette Tour Halts Abruptly, She Goes Home

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bernadette Devlin, the miniskirted civil rights crusader from Northern Ireland, abruptly terminated a fund-raising tour of the United States Tuesday and flew home.

Associates said Miss Devlin, at 22 the youngest member of Britain's parliament, was returning home because Frank Gogherty, chairman of the Irish Civil Rights Association, has arrived in the United States.

"She felt one of them ought to be in Ireland," said a spokesman for the National Committee for Irish Justice, sponsor of Miss Devlin's U.S. tour. He said also that she is suffering from "extreme fatigue and complete exhaustion."

Three New Faculty Members Are Appointed to the Staff at UCCC

STONE RIDGE
Three new faculty members, one for each of three divisions, have been appointed assistant professors for the 1969-70 academic year at Ulster County Community College, President George B. Erbstein announced today.

Dr. George W. Benze, Mahwah, N. J., has been appointed an assistant professor of the Division of Physical Science and Mathematics; Theodore H. Wohnsiedler, now a resident of Pennsylvania, has been appointed an assistant professor in the Division of Biological and Health Sciences; and Leo Pach, New York City, has been appointed assistant professor in the Division of Engineering Technologies.

Dr. Benze is listed in the book, American Men of Science, and has published several articles. He also has three patents registered.

Dr. Benze received his AB degree in chemistry from Dartmouth College and his MA and PhD degrees in chemistry from the University of Texas. He served as a teaching fellow at the University of Texas and has worked for the last several years as an industrial chemist.

Wohnsiedler presently is working on his PhD degree in biology at Pennsylvania State University and is scheduled to receive it later this month. He has taught and served as a research assistant at Pennsylvania State University and the University of Maine, and also has taught several forestry courses.

He received his BS degree from Pennsylvania State University and has an MS degree from the University of Maine.

Pach has held academic positions at Manhattan College, Cooper Union, City College and the New York Institute of Technology. In addition, has had extensive industrial experience in such positions as mechanical engineer, draftsman, pipe-stress analyst, engineer-checker and research engineer.

He received a BS degree in mechanical engineering from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and received his professional engineer's certificate from the University of the State of New York.

MRS. McLEAN REYNOLDS

Activity Head Of Vol Group For Heart

KINGSTON

Mrs. McLean Reynolds of Glasco has been appointed chairman of the Volunteer Activities Committee of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association. Dr. Alfred M. Feldshuh, president of the Association has announced.

Mrs. Reynolds is a native of Durham, N. C. She graduated North Carolina College at Durham in 1946. Presently, she is working toward a master's degree at Syracuse University. Mrs. Reynolds taught in Durham and Princess Anne, Md., before moving to New York in 1956 and joined the Kingston Consolidated School District as Home Economics teacher in 1967.

From 1963 to 1967 Mrs. Reynolds served as Ulster County Co-operative Extension Agent, 4-H Division. For the past two summers she served as counselor with the Neighborhood Youth Corps sponsored by the YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County. Mrs. Reynolds is a member of the Board of Directors of the Mid-Hudson Heart Association, the Board of Trustees of Ulster Academy, the Advisory Committee of Family Centered Service, the YMCA Board of Directors, the First Presbyterian Church and the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc.

The Mid-Hudson Heart Association covers Columbia, Greene and Ulster Counties. Mrs. Reynolds will soon name the county chairmen who will administer the expanded Volunteer Activities Program in the tri-county area.

JOE LIGUORI

Chest Show Feature on Sunday

WOODSTOCK
Joe Liguori, nationally-known singer will highlight The Woodstock Affair, a 25-act variety show, at Woodstock Playhouse Sunday, Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m. The show is produced and directed by Betty Bunce, well-known dance instructor and the master of ceremonies is Earl Thomas, disc jockey for radio station WBAB.

Liguori has appeared on the Jack Parr TV show and is presently under contract with United Artists. During September Liguori is scheduled to appear on the David Frost TV show and other nationally syndicated TV programs as well as an engagement at the Concord. He attributes most of his recent good fortune and success to his manager, Sam Greenspan. Liguori owns and sings at Liguori's Restaurant in Rosendale.

The Woodstock Affair will also feature such well known jazz and rock groups as The Laverne Blues, The Undecideds, New Jersey Folk Singers, The Country Rainfalls, The Pink Panthers and the band of Harry Castiglione. The show will also present singers Joe Giunta, Benny Tiano, Fred Genter as well as the Up With People Group. Jim Perry, well known ventriloquist and magician will also perform. The Woodstock Affair will present all forms of musical and dance renditions with over 70 performers participating for the benefit of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Tickets are available on a first come first served basis. Tickets may be purchased at the Woodstock Playhouse, the Ulster County Community Chest office at the Governor Clinton Hotel or by calling Peggy Egan and Adel Longendyke. Refreshments will be served during intermission. All proceeds from the show will be contributed to the 1969-70 Ulster County Community Chest campaign.

Fish Office Accepting Bids For Academies

POUGHKEEPSIE
Rep. Hamilton Fish (28-N.Y.) has announced that his office is accepting candidate applications for West Point, the Air Force Academy and the Naval Academy for the 1970 school year.

According to Congressman Fish, his appointment allocation this year is two for West Point, three for the Air Force Academy, and one for Annapolis, with the deadline for all applications set for Oct. 10, 1969. The appointments will be for the academic year starting in July 1970.

"I personally will play no role in the selection of Academy nominees, as such selections will be on a straight competitive basis," Congressman Fish said. "The selections to be submitted to the various Academies will be made by a Committee from the District which I am forming, and which will interview all applicants."

Congressman Fish urged any young man interested to write his Washington Office and the needed information would be forwarded to him at once.

"Any young man interested, should also determine which Academy he is interested in attending, as the qualifications for each branch vary slightly," the Congressman said.

Congressman Fish said that after all applications are in, the Committee would interview each applicant this fall, after Oct. 10.

Those interested should write Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

"Full information, including medical and physical requirements, as well as suggestions concerning high school courses which will strengthen academic preparation will be sent each applicant. I want to stress that this will be strictly competitive in every phase. Each young man will have a completely equal chance with every other young man from our area," he said.

Fire Troubles

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Handyman Ray Garner, 21, had to remove the old paint from his home so he got out his blowtorch and set to work. The fire that followed removed not only the paint but the roof of Garner's home along with his neighbor's roof. Garner moved in with relatives for a while.

RIVERSIDE® GLASBELT

The extra mileage tire

Now is the time to get the Glasbelt—the tire that offers you up to 40% more mileage than you've been getting from tires without fiber glass belts. These Belts circle the bias-ply nylon cord body to improve traction (by keeping the tread design open). Belts boost mileage (by minimizing tread squirm). Belts resist impact damage with tensile strength greater than steel. You really couldn't ask much more of a tire. Lifetime quality and road hazard guarantee. Tread guaranteed against wearout for 30 months.

Sears Consultant To Be AID Guest

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Chapter of the American Institute of Banking will present a program on Poise and the New Fall Look Tuesday night, Sept. 9, at the Holiday Inn, Washington Ave. The program will be directed and lectured by Mrs. Christine Klein, well-known area charm and fashion consultant. The program will start at 7:30 p. m. and includes a lecture and demonstration on poise as well as a fashion show on the "new fall look." Refreshments will be served between programs. Mrs. Klein has conducted Charm Schools for Sears Roebuck in various stores throughout the North Eastern Zone for the past seven years. She recently completed courses at IBM in Kingston and Poughkeepsie with enrollments over 300 teenagers and adults. In the Fall of 1969 she will again offer courses for teenagers and adults at IBM in Poughkeepsie. She was previously employed by Walgreens in Kingston as a cosmetician and has attended cosmetic classes sponsored by Revlon, Coty, Rubenstein and Max Factor. Mrs. Klein has directed and assisted in the production of fashion shows for Sears Roebuck and other smaller women's specialty shops. She has worked as a photographers model in New York City for a year as part of Sears modeling troupe. Chapter President Ronald Every, of the State of New York National Bank said that the Chapter is honored to have Mrs. Klein direct the AIB's fall program. The program is open to all female bank employees and wives of the male bankers. Reservations may be made by calling Miss Margaret Beal of the State of New York National Bank or Mrs. Rose Burgher of the Kingston Trust Company.

Varied Hobbit Shows

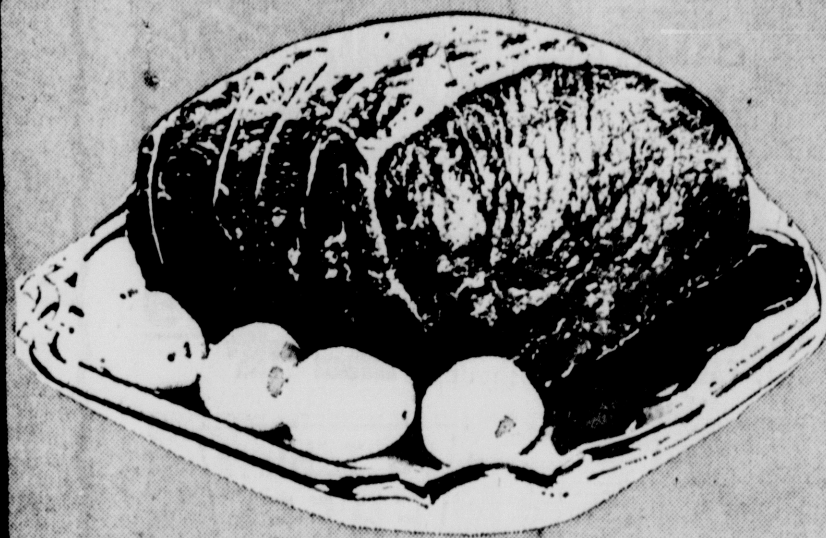

The Hobbit Coffeehouse will be presenting different featured entertainment each evening this weekend. Friday evening three unusual underground films will be shown. Saturday will be the final performance by the Kinsmen, the popular Hudson Valley folk group which is breaking up. Friday's movies will feature Lot in Sodom, a dramatization of the Biblical story of immortality which uses graphic but often beautiful optic effects to give new meaning and power to the story. The other two films to be shown, Loves of Franstan, and Life and Death of a Hollywood Extra use comedy to achieve completely opposite effects. The former is a hilarious look at film titles, while the latter is a bitter view of the super-ficinity of life in the film capital. Saturday will be the last chance to see and hear the Kinsmen, since the group is breaking up after the performance. Owing to the limited seating capacity of the Hobbit Coffeehouse, fans of the Kinsmen are urged to arrive early for the 8 p. m. show to avoid disappointment. Announcements are expected over this weekend concerning the management of the coffeehouse, as well.

Orange Blossoms and Rice for Radiant Brides

MRS. WAYNE F. ERICKSON
(Bosworth Studio)

MRS. WILLIAM C. DIAS
(Johnstone photo)

Married Saturday, Aug. 30, in Trinity United Methodist Church, Springfield, Mass., were Miss Christine Alice McGrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. McGrath of East Longmeadow, Mass., and Wayne Francis Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alie F. Erickson of Phoenix, Ariz. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. John Wollersteig of 23 Stephan Street, Kingston.

The bride designed and fashioned her A-line gown of French silk and organza eyelet. Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses and purple statice.

A-line gowns of yellow pleated pique accented with purple sashes were worn by Miss Elaine Briggs as maid of honor and Miss Gail McGrath as junior bridesmaid. Bridesmaids, Miss Lynnea Erickson, Miss Barbara Betterby, and Miss Nancy Smith, were dressed similarly in aqua blue gowns also sashed in purple. All attendants carried white baskets of yellow and blue daisies and miniature pompons.

Serving as best man was John R. Watterman. Kenneth Hughes, George Adleman and George McGrath were ushers.

Mrs. Erickson attended the University of Massachusetts and has been employed by Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co.

A graduate of the University of Massachusetts, Mr. Erickson is enrolled in the doctoral program at Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Penn., where the couple will reside.

Miss Brenda Joyce Vedder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Vedder of Malden-on-Hudson, exchanged nuptial vows with William Costa Dias of 4 Spaulding Lane, Saugerties, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dias of Trenton Avenue, Clifton, N.J., Saturday, Aug. 23 at St. Mary of the Snow Church in Saugerties.

The Rev. John F. Hamilton officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Johanna Hoose of Malden-on-Hudson sang traditional wedding selections, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Perry Bunyar of Saugerties. Arrangements of white and yellow gladioli and yellow carnations decorated the altars and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an empire style gown of peau de soie, fashioned with a high neckline and long lace sleeves. The bodice and skirt were enhanced with lace motifs and she wore a cathedral length mantilla draped to a stylized Camelot cap. She carried a cascade of white roses, carnations and spider chrysanthemums with a detachable corsage of white roses and carnations.

Miss Rosemarie Pousant of Malden-on-Hudson was maid of honor. Miss Bonnie Lee Vedder, sister of the bride, was junior maid of honor. They wore sheath style gowns of chartreuse Georgette, fashioned with scoop necklines and long cuffed sleeves. The empire waistlines featured banding of silk flowers and ivy leaves. Stylized headpieces held their tulle flirtation veils and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses with light green ribbons.

Bridesmaids were the Misses Elaine Gardner, Nancy Gardner, both of Malden-on-Hudson and Maureen Mahoney of Stone Ridge. Their gowns and headpieces were fashioned identically to those of the honor attendant's and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses with dark green ribbons.

Larry Dias, nephew of the bridegroom, Mahwah, N.J., was best man. Ushers were William Nicholson; Harley John Palen, cousin of the bride, both of Kingston; and William H. Lasher Jr., cousin of the bride, Kiskatom, Catskill.

A reception for 122 guests was held at the Alpine, DeWitt Mills Road, Kingston.

For her wedding trip, the bride selected a two tone peach dress, knitted in soft soufflé patterns, styled with a jewel neckline, with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The bride, a graduate of Saugerties High School, attended State University College at New Paltz and is now attending Kingston Hospital School of Nursing where she is a senior student nurse. She plans to be graduated in March 1970.

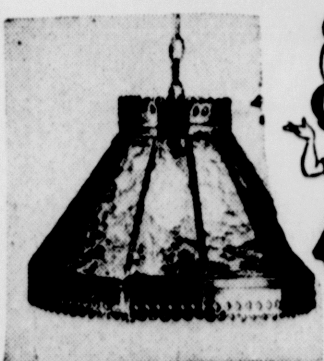

Her husband attended Pasaic High School in New Jersey and is employed as a customer engineer at IBM, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dias will reside at 4 Spaulding Lane, Saugerties.

Area Couple Exchanges Vows

Miss Donna Jeanne Winchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Winchell Jr., High Falls, became the bride of Jon Reed Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Wilson, Stone Ridge, on Saturday, Aug. 16, at Christ the King Episcopal Church, Stone Ridge.

The Rev. Marcus Rogers officiated at the double ring ceremony. Bob Palmatier, organist, accompanied Christina Gorham who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of daisies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an organza gown, styled with an Empire waistline with re-embroidered beaded and scalloped Bordonne lace forming an oval neckline. Her elbow-length illusion veil was shirred to a headpiece of organza which was accented with crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade of daisies and stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Robert Gerdes, sister of the bride, High Falls, served as matron of honor. She wore a maize nylon organza gown. Appliques of Swiss lace daisies accented the Sabrina neckline and short sleeves. The gown featured a raised waistline and a loose flowing back panel. A petal cap of daisies served as her headpiece and she carried a cascade of white and yellow daisies. Attendants were Mrs. Anthony Jerolino, Staten Island; Mrs. Paul Traficanti, Stone Ridge; Miss Marilyn McCleavy, Webster; and Miss Karen Hasbrouck, Stone Ridge. Their mint green gowns were styled similarly to that of the honor attendants and they carried cascades of yellow daisies.

Douglas Lyons, cousin of the bridegroom, Maryland, served as best man. Ushers were Robert Gerdes, brother-in-law of the bride; Paul Traficanti, both of High Falls; and Barry McCann, Pennsylvania.

A reception for 125 guests was held at the Walnut Grove, Kingston.

For her wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass., the bride wore a light beige linen suit with dark brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Wilson is a graduate of Rondout Valley High School, Class of 1965, and Potsdam State University, Class of 1969, where she was a member of Kappa Pi Social sorority. She is a staff member of Jefferson County School System, Colorado.

Her husband is a 1962 graduate of Rondout Valley High School and attended Boston University where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Social fraternity. He is now serving in the U.S. Air force, stationed at Lowry AFB, Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside at Aruado, Colo.

Hudson Vally Folk Picnic to Benefit 'Clearwater'

The fourth annual Hudson Valley Folk Picnic, to benefit the Hudson River Sloop, "Clearwater," will be held on Saturday from 1 to 10 p.m.

(Sunday, September 7, in case of rain) on the Lyndhurst Estate, Route 9, Tarrytown, just south of the Tappan Zee Bridge.

MR. AND MRS. F. LELAND WHITING of Glenford celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday, Aug. 24 at an open house held at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Arold, 844 Nicholas Avenue, Kingston. They were married Aug. 19, 1929 by the Rev. George Wilsey at the home of Mrs. Whiting's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Lennox of Glenford. Mrs. Whiting is the former Frances J. Lennox. Her husband is president of Vibroscope Company Inc. of Glenford. They are the parents of Mr. and Mrs. John (Eleanor) Arold and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Whiting of Pompano Beach, Fla. They have six grandchildren. Approximately 141 guests attended the gala affair. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

More than 2,000 families are expected to attend to hear many local performers in a combination of historical and contemporary folk music, highlighted by such well known performers as Pete Seeger and Arlo Guthrie. The picnic will feature demonstrations and sales of local arts and crafts and square dancing during the dinner intermission.

Each year the folk picnic has been held to raise funds for the "Clearwater," an accurate historical replica of the Hudson River sloop which opened the Hudson Valley to commerce a century ago. Built by a nonprofit organization, the Hudson River Sloop restoration, Inc., the "Clearwater" is sailing the Hudson River as a combination historical-conservative project with the objective of bringing Hudson Valley residents to their waterfronts to learn more about the River and to see its present state of deterioration, pollution and neglect.

Those planning to attend the folk picnic should bring blankets and chairs, food if they prefer home cooking to hot dogs and hamburgers, and insect repellent. There will be a nominal cost for the nine hour day for adults, half price for children under 12, and children under 5 are free.

Funds raised at the concert will be used to maintain the "Clearwater" as it voyages up and down the Hudson River bringing people to the waterfront. Measuring 96 feet overall with a beam of 25 feet and a 106 foot mast, the historically accurate replica was built at a cost of $175,000, contributed by the more than 2,500 Hudson Valley residents, who are members of the nonprofit organization.

Volunteer crews are sailing the "Clearwater" in its maiden voyage in the Hudson River. These crews are selected from the Hudson River Sloop membership on a first come, first served basis. Sailing with a crew of 12, which changes each week, the Sloop will visit each town and village along the River bringing its message of history and conservation to thousands of Hudson Valley residents.

Birthday Party Held Recently

A surprise birthday party was held at Tommy's Restaurant, Kingston, on Saturday evening, Aug. 23 for Mrs. Emma Tresaloni of this city.

The party was given by her four daughters, Mrs. Gloria Trice, Mrs. Shirley Leonard, Mrs. Teri VanSteenburg and Mrs. Carl Lussier, and was attended by 35 guests.

Mrs. Tresaloni was the recipient of a corsage and many beautiful gifts.

CHILD CARE CENTER—The YWCA of Kingston is cooperating with the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets in providing housing facilities for a Day-Care Center for children of migrant workers. Pictured above, working with these children, is Mrs. Albert Waters, director. The Center will be in operation for approximately five weeks. Volunteer workers are needed to help care for the children and anyone who wishes to contribute an hour or more of her time is requested to contact the YWCA at 209 Clinton Avenue, Kingston. The children include (L-R) Michael Robinson, Angie Fields, Roosevelt Robinson and Shiela Floyd. The YWCA is a member of Ulster County Community Chest. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Mrs. Faith Scott Has New Position

Mrs. Faith C. Scott of West-Field, N. Y., moved to Poughkeepsie on Monday, Sept. 1 to become the new executive secretary of the Associate Alumnae of Vassar College.

Mrs. Scott, a librarian at the Westfield Junior-Senior High School for the last four years, replaces Miss Gertrude G. Garnsey who is retiring. Miss Garnsey, who has directed the college's 22,000-member alumnae organization since 1936, will move to Seneca Falls, N. Y., where she was born.

The new secretary, the fifth person to hold the position, is a 1940 graduate of Vassar and holds a Master of Library Science degree from the State University of New York College at Geneseo. She is also a graduate of The Maderia School in Greenway, Va.

Mrs. Scott, a lieutenant junior grade in the WAVES during World War II, has served as assistant to the director of the Volunteer Bureau in Palo Alto, Calif. and as secretary to the American representative to the International Construction Co., Ltd., of London.

Her volunteer positions have included the presidency of the Peninsula Vassar Club in Palo Alto and the parents' organization of the Stanford (Calif.) Elementary School. She is a class agent for the Maderia School's annual giving program and has been active in the Westfield Faculty Association, Girl Scouts, Red Cross and Church Guild.

Mrs. Scott's son, Peter, is a sophomore at Harvard, and her daughter, Charity, is a freshman at Stanford. In her new position, Mrs. Scott will help direct a wide range of Vassar alumnae programs and projects and will advise the college's 75 regional alumnae clubs. She will live in the Alumnae House, opposite the Vassar campus.

Old Dutch Choir Program to Begin Soon

The Music Department of the Old Dutch Church, Kingston, anticipates an interesting and rewarding year in its choir program which will begin soon. Several musical projects have been planned, including the presentation of Amahl and the Night Visitors, a one act opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti, in December.

The church, with the most extensive and inclusive multiple choir system in this community, seeks to make the choir a religious, educational, artistic, and recreational factor in the lives of its members; to develop and foster a sense of worship; to train members in Christian ideals and churchmanship; to encourage a sense of personal responsibility; to develop the spirit of cooperation; to present worthy music, well prepared; to influence, with these high ideals, as many people as possible.

The Old Dutch Church singing choir, under the direction of Miss Cindy Jones, include the Motet Choir (post high school and adult), which begins Thursday, Sept. 4 at 7:30 p.m.; Chapel Choir (this year including grades 9-12), beginning Sunday evening, Sept. 7 at 6 p.m.; Youth Choir (newly formed this year to include 7th and 8th grade), beginning September 7th at 7 p.m.; Carol Choir (grades 4-6), beginning Wednesday, Sept. 10 at 3:30 p.m.; Cherub and Primary Choirs (4 years old through 3rd grade), beginning Friday, Sept. 12th at 3:30 p.m. In addition, the church owns a set of 25 handbells which are used by our Handbell Ringers, young people in 4th grade or older. Their opening rehearsal is Saturday, Sept. 6 at 10 a.m.

About the Folks

Dr. and Mrs. C. Y. Li of Catskill recently returned from an American Society of Civil Engineers Convention in Washington, D. C. While there, Dr. Li received the Thomas Fitch Rowland prize, which is presented annually, for one of his many papers published in the Civil Engineering magazine. Dr. Li is the son-in-law of Mrs. Mary Smith of Lucas Avenue, Kingston.

Mrs. Smith has been traveling also and just returned from a three week tour of the western United States, visiting Wyoming, South Dakota, Utah, Arizona and Colorado.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Burnett of Rowayton, Conn., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, Robert Paul Jr., August 1. Mr. Burnett is a former resident of Sawkill Road, Kingston, the son of Mrs. William Roe and the late Fred Burnett. Willie Got Record But Mets Won, 5-4; Cubs Go Five Ahead

By United Press International
Willie Davis' sense of timing was all "wrong" Tuesday night. Davis got the hit he needed but it came at the wrong time and the result was that the Los Angeles Dodgers suffered a 5-4 loss to the New York Mets.

Davis doubled in the sixth inning off Gary Gentry to run his hitting streak to 30 consecutive games. It's the longest hitting streak in the majors since Stan Musial hit safely in 30 straight in 1950 and also set a club record. But in the ninth inning when Davis came up, with runners on first and third, manager Gil Hodges decided to bring in Tug McGraw who struck Davis out to end the game.

Other Games

In the other National League games, Chicago edged Cincinnati, 5-4, in the completion of a suspended game and then beat the Reds again, 8-2, in the regularly scheduled game. Houston edged St. Louis, 7-6, in 11 innings and Philadelphia blanked San Diego, 2-0.

Don Clendenon hit two homers for the Mets and Ron Swoboda doubled in two runs as the Mets pinned the loss on Don Sutton, 15-13.

The Cubs stretched their lead to five games over the Mets with the two victories over Cincinnati. In the first game, the Cubs started with a 5-4 lead in a game suspended by curfew on June 15th. Ken Johnson blanked the Reds for two hitless innings to preserve the Cubs' victory.

Win Second Game

Glenn Beckert and Oscar Gamble drove in three runs each and Don Kessinger socked his fourth homer of the year as the Cubs easily won the second game. Ferguson Jenkins recorded his 19th victory.

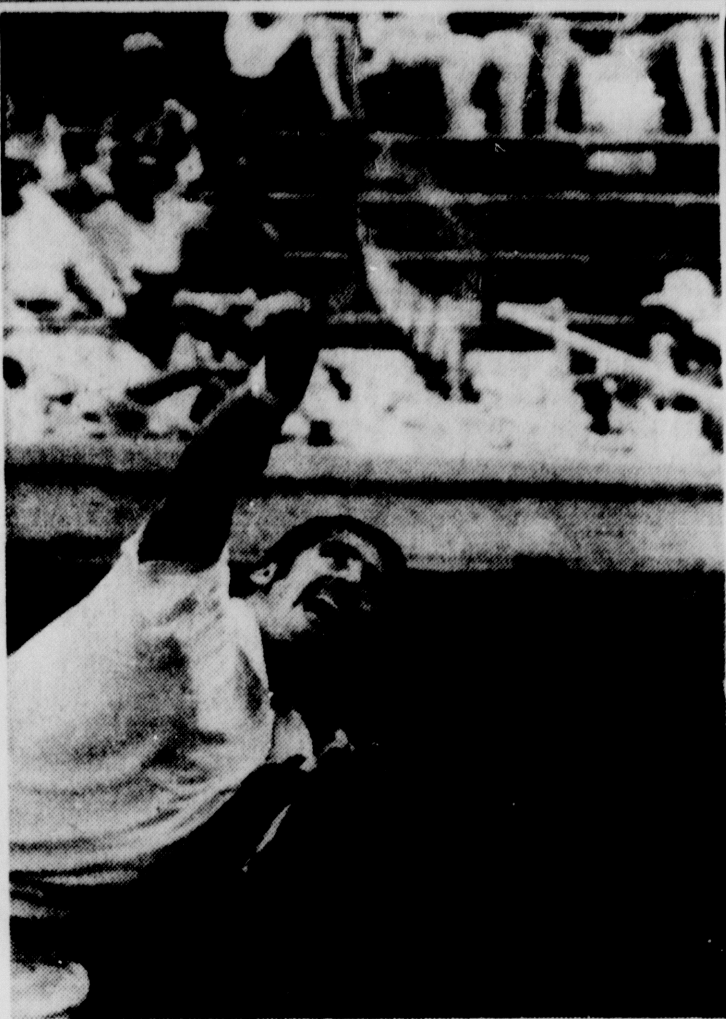

Jesus Alou's infield single in the 11th inning gave Houston the victory over St. Louis that dropped the Cards 11½ games back. Alou's single off Jim Grant's glove scored John Edwards, who reached base on Julian Javier's error and went to third on Joe Morgan's single. Alou had doubled in the tying run in the seventh as the Astros came back from a five-run deficit.

Billy Champion pitched a three-hitter and John Briggs banged out two hits and scored both runs in the Phils' win over the Padres. Tommy Sisk, 0-10, took the loss.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Rookie Billy Champion, Phillies, fired a three-hitter in a 2-0 victory over the Padres.

BATTING—Don Clendenon, Mets, cracked a pair of solo homers, singled and scored another run in a 5-4 victory over the Dodgers.

MOUTH WIDE OPEN—Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., reaches for a high one during 5½ hour marathon match with Australian John Newcombe in U. S. Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hills. Newcombe won in four sets, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 25-23 to gain the quarter finals. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Ashe and Gonzales Face the Big Tests

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—The big test comes today for America's two leading tennis personalities, Pancho Gonzales and Arthur Ashe Jr.

Old Pancho, 41, his bones and muscles aching, got an extra day of rest and goes against third-seeded Tony Roche in a delayed fourth round of the U. S. Open championships.

Ashe, fighting a tennis elbow, meets 34-year-old Ken Rosewall in one of two men's quarter-finals on the West Side Club schedule. The other sends favorite Rod Laver, unbeaten in his last 27 matches against fellow Australian, Roy Emerson.

Three other players advanced to the men's quarter-finals Tuesday.

They were second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, who had to fight off five set points in the fourth set and survive a five-hour marathon in beating Marty Riessen of Ev-

Martin's Big Hunch Paying Dividends

By United Press International
Manager Billy Martin of the Minnesota Twins says he made one of his best decisions before the start of the American League season.

It was back last winter when Martin okayed a deal which sent left-handed pitcher Jim Merritt to the Cincinnati Reds in exchange for shortstop Leo Cardenas.

That's when Martin tabbed six foot, 144 pound lefty Tom Hall as the pitcher to take up the slack for Merritt.

The trade and the decision to count on Hall paid another dividend Tuesday night when the Twins defeated the Cleveland Indians, 5-2, and extended their first-place lead in the Western Division of the American League to six games. The second-place Oakland Athletics scheduled game with the Boston Red Sox was rained out.

Drives In Two Runs

Ted Uhlaender drove in two runs with a sacrifice fly and a single and Harmon Killebrew singled in a run to raise his major league-leading RBI total to 117.

Luis Tiant, a 21 game winner last season, suffered his ninth straight loss and 18th of the season for the Indians.

The Chicago White Sox defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 10-3, the Kansas City Royals downed the Detroit Tigers, 6-2, the Washington Senators topped the California Angels, 2-0 and 3-2, and the New York Yankees scored a 5-4 15-inning victory over the Seattle Pilots in other AL games.

Score Nine Runs

The White Sox sent 13 men to the plate and scored nine runs in the sixth inning to hand 17 game winner Dave McNally his sixth loss and give Gary Peters his ninth victory.

Mrs. Margaret Court, the favorite, opposes Virginia Wade of Britain, the defending titleholder, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, takes on Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

winner Mickey Lolich his eighth the nightcap which was called because of rain after 5½ innings. Cisco Carlos won his homer and Lee Maye also pitched the game for the Senators. Ron Woods doubled to lead pitching of Jim Hannan in the off the 15th inning and scored opener at Washington. Ken on Jerry Kenney's single as the McMullen doubled and scored Yankees celebrated the rehiring in the second inning and hit a of Manager Ralph Houk with a two-run single in the third of victory over the Pilots.

Houk Is Signed For Three Years

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ralph New York. He left the Yankees after the 1958 season to become general manager and later president of the Baltimore Orioles. He left Baltimore in 1966 to become administrator in the office of the commissioner but returned to the Yankees for the 1967 season on the invitation of Burke. His current contract ran through this year.

President Mike Burke also announced that Lee MacPhail also has been rehired for three more years as executive vice president and general manager.

The Yanks, who've won only four of their last 11 games and are currently in fifth place in the Eastern Division of the American League, have been managed by Houk since May 7, 1966 when he stepped out of the front office to replace Johnny Keane. The four-year contract he signed then runs out at the end of this season.

Although the terms of the contract were not officially announced, the reported $70,000 salary is believed to be the second highest in the majors for a manager. Only Ted Williams of the Washington Senators, who probably is in the $90,000-a-year range with stock options, is believed to make more. Williams' base salary is approximately $65,000. Walter Alston of the Dodgers earns about $60,000.

MacPhail has served with the Yankees since after World War II in a variety of capacities including Midwestern farm supervisor and farm director in

Doomsday Set Awaits Joe

(By The Associated Press)
The Doomsday Gang is laying in wait for Broadway Joe Namath, pro football's controversial ace quarterback, deep in the heart of Texas.

Which indicates that the Super Bowl hero of the World Champion New York Jets is in for a rough time in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Saturday night when the Cowboys tangle with the Jets in an exhibition game.

The Doomsday Gang is the name given to the Cowboys' defensive front four who aim to rush Namath all over the place. "He is just like any other quarterback to me, I hate them all," declared George Andrie, a defensive end Tuesday. "It's a tremendous challenge to play the Super Bowl champs. It means a lot to all of us."

"I've been thinking about him the whole off-season," commented Bob Lilly, another of the Cowboy front four. "This has to be the biggest exhibition we've ever played. I think we will be motivated a little more because of Namath."

"We've got it on us that we lose games against strong teams, so it could really help us to beat the Jets and then the Colts next week."

Namath got a taste of what might be in store for him when he was dumped twice for losses by Minnesota last week, although he threw two touchdowns in guiding the Jets to a 24-21 victory over the Vikings.

"It was good to get that prac-

Phantom Bids For 3rd Win

MONTICELLO Phantom Fling, a six-year-old trotting stallion from the Bold Venture Stable of Pine Bush, will be looking for his third win of the season and second in his last three starts when he takes on a field of five other trotters in this evening's featured race at Monticello Raceway.

A 2:08.4 winner two weeks ago, Phantom Fling was stymied last week in his attempt to make it two straight. Forced to race almost the complete mile on the outside, the Fred Brad-

Pride to Seek Another Record

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI)—Nevelme Pride, the outstanding 4-year-old trotter who established a world record for the mile on Labor Day, will attempt to better another mark Saturday at Saratoga, but this one will prove much more difficult for the Stanley Dancer-trained horse.

Nevelme Pride succeeded in lowering the standard for the mile to 1:54.3 at the Indiana State Fairgrounds in Indianapolis Monday, but he accomplished the feat over a mile track. On Saturday, the speedy trotter will try and lower the mark for the mile over a half-mile course, which is a much more difficult test.

The record for trotting the mile over a half-mile course is shared by Speedy Rodney and Matarast at 1:58.3. Speedy Rodney accomplished the feat at Yonkers Raceway in 1966 while Matarast set his standard in a time trial at Delaware, Ohio, in 1963.

Nevelme Pride is currently the fastest trotter in history and has 10 records to his credit.

bury-trained trotter was in contention until the very end when he faded and finished back of the leaders.

Challenging Phantom Fling in the $1,750 feature are Mr. Speedster, the pole-horse who will have Ken McNutt in the sulky for trainer Clint Hodgins as he looks for his second of the season from 12 starts; Mercury Shooter, a five-time winner this season for owners Michael Lukacs and Mrs. J. Cressimano of Goshen; and Country Spud, looking for his second win of the year.

Eden Is Winner

Mark Eden won the featured $1,000 mile trot at the Raceway Tuesday night in 2:07 2/5. Lincoln Land Kim was second by a head and Leonard's Dream was third. The winner returned $5.20.

Aust Southern Silver won the $6,500 feature race at Roosevelt Raceway Tuesday in 2:04 1/5. Aka Eden and Shadydale Yankees.

The mile pace was won by three quarters of a length and the winner returned $6.60.

Mite's Stoney was declared the winner in a three-horse photo finish for the featured purse of $1,600 at Vernon Downs. Yankee T was second and Jim Bo's Girl was third in a race timed at 2:02 3/5. The winner paid $8.

$39.20 Payoff

At Batavia Downs, Hi Leo defeated even-money favorite Reese Rodney by three quarters of a length in a $1,300 conditioned pace. Hideaway Butch was third.

Hi Leo paced the mile in 2:05 4/5 to pay $39.20.

Travis Hanner took the featured $800 mile past at Saratoga Raceway by a head over Guess Again and Ricochet Todd in 2:07 2/5. The winner returned $6.20.

Buel's 3 Homers Tie Mark

SAUGERTIES Barbers outslugged South Side Men's Club, 14 to 9, in a Yankee Division contest.

It was the division's biggest slugfest of the season, as Michael's kept alive their mathematical chances for the pennant. With a 9-5 record they trail Spartan Pools (10-2) who are scheduled to play a double-header against Campbell's starting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Buel earned the added distinction of being the first 3-homer man to do it completely against a three-run smash off John Freigh in the fifth and an inside-the-park solo slam again off Fisceletti in the seventh.

New Sweep For Uresk

KINGSTON Birds owned and handled by Ray Uresk of Tillson captured four of the first 10 places, including a sweep of 1-2-3 in the combined race from Aberdeen, Maryland.

More than 1,200 pigeons from six different clubs participated in the annual jamboree. The birds were released at 8:30 a.m. and five and one-half hours later, Uresk clocked his first three birds. It was his second big weekend in a row on the pigeon circuit.

At about the same time, John Buckman of Kingston clocked his birds to take fourth and ninth place.

Others area winners included: Gene Barry, Gardiner, 5th; Ed Van Buren, Kingston, 6th; Peter Baum, Gardiner, 7th.

The race was rated the toughest in the young bird series which has been plagued with much bad weather over the past several weeks.

The impressive performances by Uresk's pigeons in recent competition has moved his loft into the No. 1 spot among area devotees of the sport.

'Y' Slates Annual Fall Loop

KINGSTON The YMCA Fall Basketball League will hold an organizational meeting, Sept. 8, 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA. All those who are interested in helping to organize the league should attend this meeting.

This year's league will be set up as in the past with two divisions, provided that there are enough qualified teams to enter. The league is open to all high school, college and adult members and will run from mid-September to the end of November. Games will be played at the YMCA on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, between 7 and 10 o'clock.

Any 10 members may enter as a team, however, individuals may also sign up to play and will be assigned to teams or will be put together to represent one entry.

At least one representative from each team that plans to enter, must be present at this meeting. Trophies will be given out to last year's winners. Entry forms and copies of the league's rules will also be handed out.

Interested parties seeking further information should contact Jim Lapak, physical director at the Kingston and Ulster County YMCA.

ALLAN SIMPKINS' FOLLOW THROUGH

Allan Simpkins Sets New 'K' Mark

GLASCO A member of the Greco Brothers Dodgers, Allan Simpkins struck out 127 batters in 87½ innings to set a new all-time record in the Glasco-East Kingston Little League this season.

In addition, his brilliant 1.11 earned run average per six innings is also believed to be a new Glasco-EK standard. Simpkins won 8 and lost 2 and yielded only 31 hits. He walked only 24, allowed 15 earned runs and just two home runs.

League observers regard him as one of the finest pitchers ever developed in the circuit, with uncanny control.

He resides with his aunt, Mrs. John Greco at Mt. Marion.

Cagle First

MIDDLETOWN Fred DeGroot won his second straight in the Limited Sportsmen Feature while Russ Meyers nailed down his sixth win of the season in the Semi-County Fair Speedway, with track champion Will Cagle winning the big honors. Cagle took the lead away from Jack Evans on lap 47 and duplicated his 1968 win in the qualifier.

Evans had led the event from the ninth lap, taking over the position from early leader Ron Basrailian. It was Cagle's ninth modified win of the season. The greyhound racing history Tuesday sends the 30-year-old night with a handle of Floridian to the Race of Champions, Oct. 12, representing this season's attendance reached 1,002,114, also a record in Florida.

Annual Swim Awards Given at Wiltwyck

KINGSTON banquet attended by 200 persons

Climaxing its most successful swimming pool season in nine years, Wiltwyck Country Swim Club honored its youngsters and parents at the annual awards of the inter-league championship, was presented to the club. Most valuable swimmer trophies were presented to the winners by pool director and swim coach, Art Stockin. The recipients had been designated by a vote of their teammates.

Among those who received this award was Craig Murray, who was the club's No. 1 swimmer and boys team captain. Receiving the award in the girls division was 9-year-old Mary Beth Pechloff. Runnersup in the girls division were Susan Helmrich and Pam Randel. In the boys division it was Mike O'Hara and John Edwards.

The coaches award was presented to Claudia Randel, girls team captain, and Craig Murray.

Humorous awards were presented to members of the pool and gifts of appreciation to Coach Stockin and Miss Debbie Rifenburg, his assistant.

Awards were also presented to winners in the second annual Wiltwyck Invitational swim, as well as ribbons for the relay carnival which opened the season's activities.

Special tributes were paid to Robert Murray, Burton Davis and Henry Mierzwa Sr., for their assistance at all swimming meets.

Adults who completed the required long-distance swimming segments were presented certificates from the Wiltwyck Club. These included Mrs. George Melahn, Mrs. Sue Abramsky, Dr. Victor Randel, William Helmrich, Joseph Edwards and Debbie Rifenburg.

American Red Cross certificates earned by the following swimmers were presented by Miss Rifenburg:

NYS Stars Notch First Tour Victory

KINGSTON Thirty seven minutes into the

(Editor's Note: This is another dispatch filed from Europe by Ingo Froehlich, Kingston Sport Club publicity director, who managed the New York State Soccer All Stars in an exhibition tour through western Europe.)

Victory finally came to the New York State All Stars at Heilbronn, Germany, where they defeated the locals, 4 to 1, in their most impressive display of soccer during the tour.

Ironically, the win came a day after the All Stars had bowed 2-1 to Grossachsenheim, a team rated two notches below Heilbronn in the German national soccer ratings.

Elliott Pobbi-Asare, the Galloping Ghanian, was the local hero with three goals at Heilbronn where he was mobbed by fans after the game.

Coach Ingo Froehlich moved Asare to center forward and moved Gino Ventriglia to the right wing and the switch paid handsome dividends.

Heilbronn jumped into the lead 1-0 in the first 12 minutes when the center forward slipped past Bill Piepke of Rochester. Five minutes later, Asare beat the goalie with a spectacular twist shot to tie it at 1-1.

Clancy Van Aken Takes Honors in Beaten Eight

KINGSTON ritt defeated Charles Kovacs, 3

There was one Van Aken winner in the Wiltwyck Country Club championships. It was Harold, better known as Clancy, who defeated George Cosenza, 3 and 2, in the finals of the Beaten Eight flight in the championship round.

The pair fired nine birdies during the match—five by Van Aken, four by Cosenza.

Other flight finalists: First Flight—Robert O. Mer-resignations and terminations and changes in status and salary for some civil service employees.

Harold E. Keator, chairman of business management, will submit reports on the budget statement, a statement of vouchers, the collector-treasurer's report for June and July and the school lunch milk program for June. He also will offer resolutions on awarding of bids for science laboratory equipment, industrial arts equipment and also the cafeteria.

Resolutions for additional funds to the school, for bond anticipation notes and assignment of bus contracts, will be acted upon.

Other reports will be made by Beverly H. Sleight Jr., chairman of the Building Committee; Mrs. Evelyn Corsones, chairman of public relations for the Consolidated School District; Milton Reynolds, chairman of transportation and Acting Supt. of Schools Louis A. Salzmann will submit a monthly report.

Reliefers Scratched

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Santa Barbara County supervisors have voted to end welfare payments to five persons on relief who live abroad.

"They are perpetrating an abuse in the minds of every citizen paying welfare bills," Supervisor Curtis Tunnell said before the vote Tuesday.

Three of the recipients live in England, one in Canada and one in the Philippines. The five draw a total of $1,000 a month.

To qualify for welfare a recipient must have assets of less than $1,200 and a monthly income below $184.50.

Old Coins

WREXHAM, Wales (AP) — Police have been informed of a hoard of 68 silver coins dating from the reigns of Richard VI in the 12th century and Henry III in the 13th century. They said the coins were found in 1921 by a boy who did not recognize their value, put away in a cupboard and not re-examined until recently.

$100 FOR CP FUND — Several pre-teens from Highland Avenue recently raised $100.96 at a neighborhood carnival for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy fund. Donna Hoffer (L.) a CP patient, accepts check from JoAnn McGowan, 12; Brenna Lamoureux, 10; Mary Boyle, 10 and Kaven Ford, 10, four of the participants. Others who assisted included Brannon Lamoureux, 8; John Boyle, 8; Patricia Boyle, 7; Donna Ford, 8; Cathy Harden, 10; George Zeeh, Ernest, Lillian, Kenneth and Patrick McGowan. The money will be used to purchase equipment for the Speech and Hearing Department in the new building. (Freeman photo by Haines).

States Lacking Narcotic Curbs Urged to Take Effective Steps

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Governors of states lacking strong narcotic controls were urged today to mount comprehensive drug abuse prevention, rehabilitation and research programs "immediately."

Speaking at the National Governors' Conference, Lawrence W. Pierce, New York State's Narcotic Addiction Control Commission chairman, said evidence indicates an accelerating incidence of addiction from the traditional port-of-entry states and he told the governors. "New York has organized a broad-scale preventive education program which utilizes such resources as 15 regional education centers operated by the state, an extensive publications program, mobile unit, film and audio-tape library, speakers' bureau, exhibits, professional education bureau, and local community narcotic guidance councils."

Pierce, reviewing the commission's program, said there are now a total of 9,500 addicts receiving care and rehabilitative services from state-operated and state-accredited public and private agencies in the Empire State eight-thousand of these receive care at state expense, he noted.

"In the area of prevention," he said, "so has the desire and demand for luxury cars and the top-of-the-line series."

Naughton said 1970 could be the year when cars of intermediate size outsell the standard-sized cars for the first time in automotive history.

"That's where we've placed our biggest stack of chips," he said.

Naughton said Ford intends to continue the Falcon name "on a car which means economical family transportation."

Ford spokesmen refused to comment further on Naughton's remarks.

"We will produce the 1970 Falcon models . . . into December," Naughton said, "supplying current and anticipated demand for the car."

"At the end of the year," he continued, "we will convert the Falcon production capacity at our Kansas City assembly plant to the Maverick, to help meet demand for that car."

Ford to Drop Falcon Line For Maverick

MONTAUK, N.Y. (AP) — The Ford Motor Co., noting that "affluence is all about us," announced today it will drop its compact Falcon line.

The Falcon production line, Ford said, will be converted to the popular Maverick.

Ford also said, without further explanation, that early in 1970, the Falcon name will be on a new car, to be announced later. There has been speculation that Ford will introduce a car to compete directly with the Volkswagen.

The decision on the Falcon, rumored recently, was contained in an announcement prepared by John Naughton, vice president of the Ford Motor Co. and general manager of the Ford Division, for a news conference in which Ford unveiled the company's 1970 models.

The new models exhibit a trend towards longer and lower lines and emphasis on what Ford calls its intermediate cars.

"Affluence is all about us," Naughton said, "and that affluence is having a powerful impact on automobile makers who must stay ahead of changing trends."

"As income has risen," he said, "so has the desire and demand for luxury cars and the top-of-the-line series."

Naughton said 1970 could be the year when cars of intermediate size outsell the standard-sized cars for the first time in automotive history.

"That's where we've placed our biggest stack of chips," he said.

Joiners

The annual meeting of the Craftsman's Club of Rondout Lodge will be held at the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, Thursday, Sept. 4 at 8 p.m. Election of officers and plans for the coming year will be considered.

Girl First

BRADFORD, England (AP) — Constable Janet Stephenson went on a three-month police training course with 16 men and beat them all. Red-haired Janet, 19, was first in her class in self-defense, law and general studies, an averaged 80 per cent in her exams. The men averaged 62 per cent.

Fast Shave

LONDON (AP) — Motorist Gerry Curtis switched on his razor and gave himself a pretty fast shave—52 miles per hour through a built-up area and with both hands off the wheel at times, a policeman testified. Curtis was fined 15 pounds, $36, despite his protest: "I was only shaving the bottom of my chin."

Introducing a Used Car Guarantee
It Doesn't Come With Every Car

It's a 100% guarantee. Not one of those "we pay half-you-pay-half" deals.

And it comes only with used cars that pass the Volkswagen 16 point Safety and performance test.

This is how it works. When we get a car as a trade in, we give it the inspection. Check it out completely. If it passes, we tune up, tighten, repair or replace everything that needs tuning up, tightening, repairing or replacing.

Then we guarantee it 100% repair or replacement of all major mechanical

•Engine • Transmission • Front Axle • Rear Axle Assemblies
• Brake System • Electrical System

Dear Abby

Grave Plot Problem

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune)

DEAR ABBY: Shortly after my husband passed away, my sister (who is two years younger than I) expressed a desire to purchase the grave plot next to HIS for herself when her time comes. She says it will give her "peace of mind" to be buried next to him. She has a grave in another cemetery with our parents, but now she has changed her mind and wants to be buried next to MY husband. (HER husband was buried at sea.)

I have a plot next to my husband's for myself when my time comes, but the one on the other side is still for sale. My sister and I have always gotten along very well, and she says she will not do anything against my wishes, but I cannot for the life of me understand why she needs to be buried on the other side of MY husband for HER "peace of mind."

Since that plot will not be available indefinitely, I must make a decision soon. If I say no, I'll be hurting my sister, and if I say yes, I'll be hurting myself. What should I do?

ANONYMOUSLY YOURS: DEAR ANONYMOUSLY: Since it would appear that your sister goes "to pieces" more easily than you, say yes, and hope that when her time comes, she will rest in peace.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a divorced man for almost five years. I am also divorced. He is very good to me, but has been a playboy all his life, and it is difficult for me to believe that he will settle down and be a good husband.

He says he loves me and has asked me to marry him several times, and I am sure I am the Number One Girl in his life I have reason to believe he cheats on me. When I'm at his apartment, I keep finding evidence of other women, such as cards and notes signed, "All my love." He claims he can't help it if women chase him. I tell him he wouldn't have that problem if he didn't encourage them. I do love him, Abby, but I'm wondering if I should marry him feeling the way I do.

DISTURBING: DEAR DISTURBING: A woman who loves a man she cannot trust during the courtship doesn't know what misery is until she marries him.

DEAR ABBY: I am 28, and very much in love with Lena, who is 34. I want to marry her, but the problem is my mother. She says Lena is too old for me. I have been trying for four months to get my mother to meet Lena, but she is so opposed to her on the grounds of her age that she refuses to even make her acquaintance to give her a chance.

My mother is a fine woman in many ways, Abby, but she is very stubborn. She says if I marry Lena she will not come to the wedding.

I want to get married, but I would feel guilty marrying against my mother's wishes, so no matter what I do, somebody will get hurt. What should I do?

NO KOOK IN CAL: DEAR NO KOOK: If you have to ask ME, you are not ready to marry Lena — or any other woman.

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 70 years old and have lived long enough to know that people who distrust every other person are not to be trusted themselves.

Very truly yours, VICTOR IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR VICTOR: To which I can only add, "AMEN!"

Everybody has a problem.

What's yours? For a person $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:30 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY September 4, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Avoid acting on impulse. Give logic equal play. You should strive to be aware of details. Relatives may be argumentative. Air is cleared later tonight. Hang on.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Avoid being aggressive about prices, standards. You may not have all the necessary facts. Know this and be willing to wait. Cycle continues high. But don't create impression of arrogance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Avoid trying to rush. Strive for balance. Relative may be involved with financial dealings. Know this and be diplomatic. You do not know it all.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Cycle moves up; tonight, many of your views can be vindicated. Your family, home are spotlighted. There is no need to brood about what might have been. Enjoy benefits currently available.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Nothing halfway about emotional involvements today. Know this and don't play games. It could be for keeps. Generally favorable, especially where social activities are concerned.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may desire harmony, but you encounter opposition. This applies specifically to those you deal with in connection with property, profession. Some in authority seem to be stubborn.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Avoid unnecessary travel. Don't start something you cannot finish. Best to take long-range view. Be aware of public reaction to your statements, actions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): New view toward money transactions appears necessary. Avoid spending on product which is due to come out in more utilitarian manner. Means strive for quality — and be shrewd.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your hunch or intuition may be the most reliable indicator today. You receive confusing, contradictory reports. Key is to wait and see. Heed inner voice.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Change of work routine indicated. There could be reversal of status quo. Avoid irritating neighbors, associates. Wise to turn other cheek. This will ultimately work in your favor.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Some friends could disagree. Don't get caught in middle. Your relations with one close to you could suffer. Key is to be creative and mature.

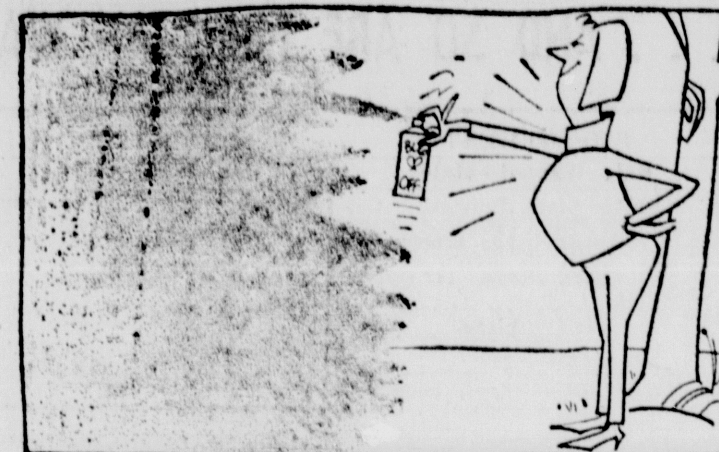

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Hold back on final decisions. Aura of confusion exists. What appears certain today is subject to change tomorrow. Set up greater line of communication. Be a bit more flexible.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are critical, selective, discriminating. You have more of a work load due to recent claims, obligations and opportunities. But the ultimate direction is toward success.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

FIVE RULES: (Comment) I have been going with a boy for about a year and I think we will maybe get married after college. I have a set of five rules for going with him. (1) I let him know every once in a while that I like him. It makes him feel good. (2) I do little things for him, like leaving a note in his car, saying, "I miss you." This makes him feel real good inside. (3) I try to look nice for him. I wear a color or a dress that I know he likes. (4) If he asks me where I want to go on a date, I tell him. He wouldn't ask if he didn't want my opinion.

And (5) I stick to my morals. This is perhaps the most important rule. If I let him do what he wants, we may end up going all the way. I stop him the very first time he tries anything. If I let him do it once, he would want more the next time. Soon he would tire of me and drop me. I am a senior in high school and have gone by these rules with every boy I really liked. Believe me, they work! Especially Number 5.—A Happy Steady in Missouri.

(A.) Rule Number 6: Never ever let him know you have the same set of rules for handling him that you had for handling all the boys before him.

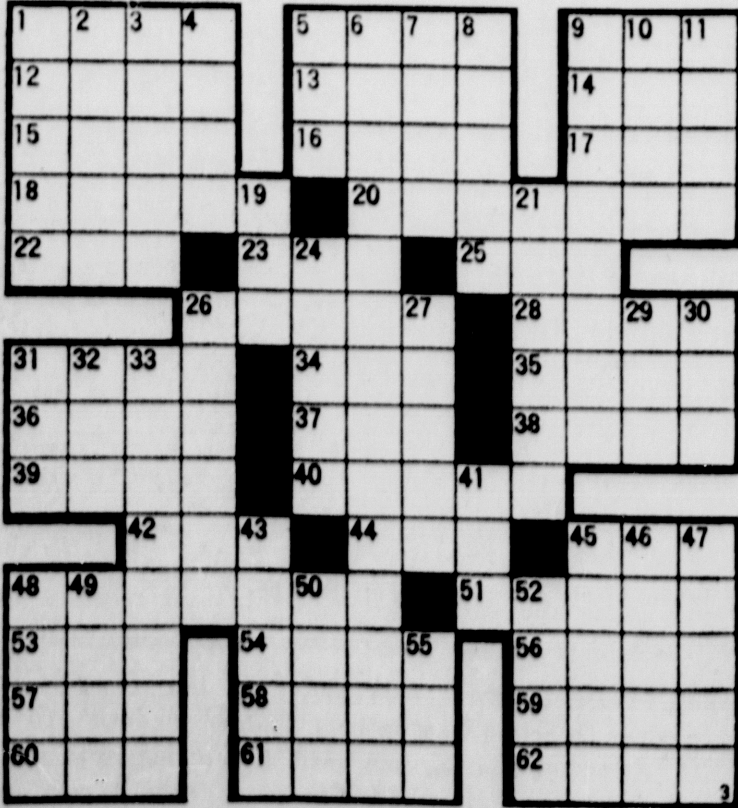

TAMING A MANE: (Q.) My hair is kinky and hard to manage. It is moderately long for a boy. Can you tell me how to straighten it?—T. in Greensboro, N.C.

(A.) Your best bet is to go to an experienced men's hair stylist. He may be able to straighten it. If not, he may suggest a handsome shorter style.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Video Resumes A Tradition

NEW YORK (UPI)—You can travel the length and breadth of England and never see a monocle. You can talk to thousands of Britons and never find one grinning vacantly with protruding teeth and squealing exclamations as "By George!" and "I say, old fruit."

Now television is resuming a tradition that goes back to Claude Allister in the early days of the talkies (and the current late shows) and includes such other sterling British character actors as Eric Blore, Alan Mowbray and Arthur Treacher, the 75-year-old regular on the Merv Griffin Show.

The English caricature is back and it is pleasant to report that it is in the safe hands of Jeremy Lloyd, a tall, blonde young man who remembers walking down the King's Road in London's swingin' Chelsea District and suddenly finding himself in beautiful Downtown Burbank.

Looking for Actor

"The Laugh-In (NBC-TV) showed up," he said. "They were looking for an actor—and they took me. They also were looking for a writer—and they added me to the writing team. So here I am, delighted to be here, looking forward anxiously to the actual season and praying I'm everything they hoped I would be."

"Laugh-In" had a supercilious English type (Roddy McDowall) in its first season but Lloyd has a wider range. You will see him as Toulouse-Lautrec—with an Oxford accent. Or a baseball player talking like a member of the House of Lords—and that isn't cricket.

They were wondering what sort of wild gear to dress me in," he said. "Then I showed up one day in my normal Chelsea wardrobe and they stopped wondering. That's what I'll be wearing on the show."

There are two items especially worth noting in NBC's "First Tuesday" Sept. 2. One is an investigation into an alleged rejuvenation medication for which many Americans are paying $250 for 150 capsules on the "Gray Market." The other is a study of the corporal punishment still administered to pupils in some Irish schools. If NBC-TV had extended this last inquiry into Britain they would have uncovered a shocking example of class discrimination. Rich pupils in the blue-blooded prep schools there can be beaten any time. But it's not permitted in the free schools so the working classes have to do without.

Alert Defense Sinks Expert

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Everything seems to happen to the unlucky expert. Even when he does nothing to bring on bad luck, it seems to follow him around.

Today's hand is an example. Most players would open his hand with one spade, but he elected to bid one no-trump. If he had opened one spade, the final contract would surely have been four spades. He arrived at the same spot after opening one no-trump. It seems that North decided to use the Stayman convention to find a major suit fit.

Stayman is a fine convention. We use it ourselves but would simply have gone to three no-trump with this particular North hand. We might add that Sam Stayman would also have left his convention alone this time and gone directly to three no-trump. You don't really need to look for a major suit fit with this sort of North holding.

Of course, our friend was also most unlucky in running into inspired defense.

West started the ball rolling for his side by opening a heart. East took that first trick with his king and looked around for some way to beat the four-spade contract. Finally he hit on the killing defense.

There were 21 high-card points in his hand and the dummy. That left 19 for West and the declarer. Give declarer 16 and West could hold the king of clubs. East decided to play him for that card and he shifted to a club—but he also shifted to the right club—the 10.

This play left our friend with no place to go but down. He could duck entirely, rise with the ace or cover with the jack, but the defense were going to wind up with two club tricks and two heart tricks.

Note that, due to the presence of the nine in dummy, only the lead of the 10 would have worked.

Take your job problems home with you. The rest of the staff will appreciate having nothing to worry about evenings.

A cheap skate is a fellow who thinks an engagement ring consists of getting a girl to say "yes" over the telephone.

Fellow across the desk smokes a pipe, and we wish he'd add a little tobacco now and then.

Some kids are good for nothing; others have to be bribed.

Save for a rainy day and you'll use all the money in paying to fix the leaky roof.
